NEW ORLEANS GREETED 10,000 VETERANS IN MAMMOTH PARADE

BY MORROW KUTUM
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—Ten thousand Yanks gave a glorious parade this afternoon. There were military bands in the procession, there were drum corps, a score of bizarre floats, hundreds of standards, a thousand different "stunts" detached from the battalions that are in the harbor, cannon overseas stripes and rumbling tanks that once through the mud of France. Two squadrons of air formation of seaplanes soared over the line of march.

WHO IS HARDING

MR. WILLIAM WILKINSON
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 18.—The parade was a magnificent display of military power and patriotism. The Yanks were greeted with a rapturous ovation by the New Orleans citizens. ## WAS FOOLED HUSBAND?

Testimony of Woman Accused of Slaying Babes
Says "Children" Were Manikins

STOCKTON, Oct. 18.—When Thomas Lee Woolwine, Democratic nominee for Governor, picked up a small plaster of Paris cast of a Ku Klux Klan man in full regalia, which had been placed at his feet on a platform as he was delivering an address here tonight, and broke it to bits on a cement sidewalk, disorderly scenes occurred in which fully five men were knocked down and others scratched. The candidate's address was interrupted for twenty minutes as women and men sought refuge.

Kemalists Visit Forbidden Town Despite Order

NOTWITHSTANDING the ultimatum decision of the Allied commission to forbid the Kemalists' gendarmerie to enter Constantinople, a contingent of the gendarmerie numbering about 200 arrived unexpectedly at the Stamboul waterfront this evening, from the railway station anchored further down the coast.

TRAIN HITS BUS; WOMAN KILLED

SAN JOSE, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Rosa Ferrer, 42 years old, was killed and four others injured when an automobile bus was struck by an electric car this evening.

Rob Woman of $12,000 in Diamonds

Mrs. Zirena Maloof of 718 South Berendo street, was held up and robbed of more than $12,000 worth of diamonds early this morning as she was entering her home after having attended a theater party with two acquaintances.

PORTLAND ROUNDS UP WOBBLES

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 18.—With the declaration that Portland was threatened by an invasion of thousands of members of the Industrial Workers of the World, coming here to participate in the waterfront strike now in effect here, Mayor George I. Baker last night and early today by orders to the police caused the arrest of 350 men for investigation.

AMERICANS BUY GEMS OF EUROPE

Hundreds of Millions in Francs Spent Without Any Influence on Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Austrian and Russian jewels worth 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 francs have been purchased during the past year by middle-class men and women in America and Europe without influencing the price tendencies of the gem markets, Pierre Cartier, head of the Cartier jewel firm, declared today following his return from a trip abroad. Jewels are considered the stable medium of exchange in Europe today because of the fluctuation of currencies, Mr. Cartier said.

CHANGE SCENE OF MURDER

Two Witnesses Found Who Declare They Heard
Screams of Woman in Deserted Barn

NEW BRUNSWICK (N. J.) Oct. 18.—Affidavits have been obtained from two men who identify the authorities refuse to divulge, county prosecutors said tonight, which set forth that the double murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills did not occur in the orchard where the bodies were found, but in a barn on the southern outskirts of New Brunswick.

CROSSINGS TAKE HEAVY DEATH TOLL

Eight Human Lives Ended
by Collisions of Trains and Automobiles

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Eight persons, five women and three men, were killed today in four spectacular automobile accidents on the railroad crossings in and near Chicago. At Glenview and Blue Island, suburbs, fast trains killed four persons in automobiles on main highways, and at Gary, Ind., a fast electric train crashed into an automobile, killing two of the occupants and injuring a third. Two unidentified women were killed and the baby of one of them was probably fatally injured late today when a Chicago and North-western passenger train struck the automobile in which they were riding, two miles east of Des Plaines. While scores of commuters gazed, horrified and helpless, an unidentified man and woman, clasped in each other's arms, were burned to death when the gasoline tank of a taxicab exploded after the cab had been struck by a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train at Glenview. The others narrowly escaped death.

WOMEN LOSE OUT IF THEY WED AMERICANS

PARIS, Oct. 18.—French women who marry Americans will have no nationality as a result of the American law of September 22, which precludes them from becoming Americans, while the French law decrees that they lose their native nationality when they marry foreigners.

WOULD BLACKMAIL BISHOPS WHO AID PLANS FOR PEACE

LONDON, Oct. 18.—I have just received from Ireland a document which indicates a new policy of the Republican rebels in attacking Catholic bishops and, if necessary, appealing to Rome for support in the rebellion against the Free Staters. It is a letter written by A. O. D. H. de Blacum, one of the most prominent Republican leaders, to Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington, a Dublin Republican leader, and it was captured by Free State troops.

ENGLAND PROTESTS DRY LAW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Severe by prohibition enforcement officials early this week of the Canadian schooner Emerald, off the New Jersey coast, has been the ground for formal protest by the British government, the contention being that the vessel was outside American jurisdiction. Pending detailed official advice from the officers who made the seizure, comment as to the probable attitude of the Washington government was not available today.

FEAR FOR NATIONAL GUARD

Politico-Military Makeshift Looms in Proposed Changes Necessitated by Fund Lack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Officials of the Army in Washington are aroused over the forthcoming conference called by Secretary of War Weeks for the purpose of agreeing upon a scheme for a reallocation of organizations to the National Guard service.

Huge Wireless Plant Wanted for Vancouver

TORONTO (Ont.) Oct. 18.—The Canadian Marconi Company, in co-operation with the parent company in England, is contemplating erecting at Vancouver what probably will be the largest and most powerful wireless station in the world for direct communication with Australia and the East. It will be the last word in modern wireless plants. It will be part of the Imperial all-British wireless circuit.

KAISER TELLS HOW HE WAS "ABDICATED" Booted Out of Throne and Country, Wilhelm Admits, With But Little Ceremony

BY WILLIAM HORNZOLGER.

(Copyright by the Associated Press. All rights reserved. This article is published in whole or part without permission.)

Now the efforts of the government and the Imperial Chancellor to induce me to abdicate began. Drows, the Minister of the Interior, came to me at the behest of the Chancellor, in order to supply me with information concerning the spirit in the country.

He described the well-known happenings in press, finance and public, and laid emphasis on the fact that the Imperial Chancellor himself had adopted no attitude toward the question of my abdication, but, nevertheless, had sent him to me. Drows, in short, was well-wish to suggest to me that I myself should decide to abdicate, in order that it might not appear that the government had exerted pressure upon me.

I spoke to the Minister about the fact that I myself should decide to abdicate, in order that it might not appear that the government had exerted pressure upon me.

After that, Drows was received, in my presence, by Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Gen. Groener, whom he informed of the mission entrusted to him by the Imperial Chancellor and by both of whom he was very sharply rebuked in the name of the army. Groener's characterization of Prince Max, in particular, was expressed in such a manner that I had to speak and comfort the Minister.

Effect pointed out. The field marshal also called Drows' attention to the fact that the army would not go on fighting but would disperse, and that the majority of the officers, in particular, would not follow him.

Soon after that I learned from one of my sons that the Imperial Chancellor had tried to ascertain whether he was prepared to undertake the mission which subsequently was undertaken by Drows. My son indignantly declined to suggest abdication to his father.

In the meantime, I had sent the Chief of Cabinet, Von Delbrück, to Berlin, in order to lay before the Reichstag a general address, also intended for publication, which should take the place of my address to the Reichstag, and which I had intended to publish in the Reichstag.

During the next few days there were constant reports that the Reichstag in Berlin was planning to vote on the question of my abdication.

On the morning of November 9, the Reichstag met in the Reichstag building in Berlin. Prince Max of Baden, caused me to be informed again as he had already done on the 7th—that the Reichstag had decided to vote on the question of my abdication.

fining prohibition enforcement operations strictly to the three-mile limit of territorial waters, except in one circumstance, of a vessel being seized within the limit, but outside the three-mile limit, and being found to be carrying contraband.

That the British authorities are convinced the Emerald case does not justify the more drastic action of seizure beyond the three-mile limit except where the conditions met the rule laid down.

NO DIPLOMATIC DEFENSE. In view of the British refusal to consider the working out of a ready to permit search of a suspected liquor smuggling craft up to the three-mile limit, it is unlikely that the Washington government would attempt to defend diplomatically the more drastic action of seizure beyond the three-mile limit except where the conditions met the rule laid down.

WHISKY IS SEIZED. NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Federal prohibition agents today swooped down on the Rosenberg Mills in Union Square and seized Scotch liquors valued at $15,000.

SILENT ON SEIZURE. NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Henry C. Stuart, acting collector of customs for the Port of New York, today refused to discuss the seizure outside the three-mile limit of the liquor-laden Canadian schooner Emerald, which caused the British government to protest to the State Department.

POSTPONE FLIGHT. SAN DIEGO, Oct. 18.—Foggy weather at Temecula Pass, through which the warbirds were to fly almost at the start of their nonstop flight to New York, caused Lieut. J. A. MacReady and Oakley Kelly, Army aviators, to announce tonight that they would not take off tomorrow, as they intended to fly to the coast and make a home port on or before October 21.

Armstrong's Linoleum

for Every Floor in the House.

Quiet in the library—

Everything possible is done to promote it

FOOTSTEPS in a library make noises. A quiet floor subdues them.

The picture shows a corner of the Denver Public Library, where the floor is Armstrong's Linoleum. A floor of linoleum promotes quiet more effectively than any other type of floor. The sound of people walking from bookshelves to tables is scarcely audible. No scraping sound results when a chair is moved over a linoleum floor.

When properly laid, linoleum makes a waterproof, smooth, and resilient floor, quiet to the tread and easy to walk or stand on. Linoleum is easy to clean. Dirt and dust do not work into it. An occasional waxing and polishing keeps linoleum bright and new-looking.

Armstrong's Linoleum is made in several attractive plain colors, for offices or public buildings where no decorative plan is followed; while the Jaspé or two-tone effects, parquet or tile inlays are suitable for those shops, restaurants, or offices in which a certain harmony in floor and furnishings is desirable.

Your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant will explain the advantages of Armstrong's Linoleum for floors which have to withstand hard wear, and at the same time present an appearance of dignity and harmony with the other furnishings.

Our free 48-page booklet, "Business Floors," gives data and specifications for laying linoleum over concrete or wood.

OUR AMERICAN ADVENTURE

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

(Copyright, 1932, by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle for the United States and Great Britain. Released by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Mr. Arthur Oppenheimer, prohibitionist, of New York.

The most urgent question at present in New York, as in all America, is that of prohibition, and the visitor is brought very squarely up against it from the first moment of his arrival. I enjoy a glass of good wine in season, but neither my wife nor I have been regular drinkers of alcohol, so we have found it no intolerable privation to be without it. I don't care, however, about being forced into virtue, and I feel about wine as Barrie felt about the dictionary, that "even if he did not like it he liked to feel that it was there."

Still, I admit that there is something very noble in a great nation saying: "Many of us enjoy our wine, but we are prepared to give it up and make this sacrifice of our habits and comfort in order that all the crimes and poverty which come from the abuse of drink may be done away with. Surely, no one can deny that such an attitude is fine, and America leads the world by its action."

But is it really necessary to be so drastic? Why should extremists always have their way? Might we not preserve the social amenities and the pleasant varieties of experience which light forms of alcohol give and yet shut out those stronger drinks which make for intoxication? I should personally favor such a law even if it were to be only a half-way house. The main objection to it is that it would require, to some extent, the abrogation of the prohibition act, which is now shut down, and which was always a center of evil. That, however, surely could be met in some way. Europeans must not make too much of the bootlegging and illicit drinking which built so large in the papers. Reformers have always reckoned on years of unrest, and are prepared to wait for full realization of their hopes when the new generation arises.

At present, liquor can always be got, but you have to go out of your way, to pay a high price, to accept an inferior article and occasionally to run a risk, so that there is no inducement unless a man is very inclined that way. I have seen flasks drawn out occasionally, and I have seen a lady produce a cocktail in the course of a dinner as if it were a conjuring trick. Twice when I dined out I found wine on the table, and once a friend told me that he had a small illicit consignment and was puzzled how to conceal it. I volunteered to conceal a small fraction of it for him. But save for these small adventures we never came in contact with alcohol at all during the three months of our wanderings. We carried two bottles of medical comforts with us all the way and gave them to friends as pressing presents when we left. One curious remark frequently made is that every crook in the country would vote prohibition, so well have they flourished as smugglers.

AN AMATEUR MEDIUM

On April 18 we had a sitting with Mr. John Tignor, a well-known amateur medium, on the invitation of Mrs. Cogswell, who afterward furnished us with a verbatim account of the proceedings taken by a stenographer. This is a wonderful help in checking a seance for the best notes—and I usually take notes—were very inadequate. There were several sitters, and Stefansson came with us once again.

As I look over the notes now the result seems to me remarkably accurate. Mr. Tignor is a stoutish, rather Pickwickian figure, kindly, clean-shaven and true to type as an American business man. Sitting in an arm chair he closed his eyes, breathed hard through his nose, and in a minute was in a deep state of what we must suppose, call self-hypnosis. There were agitation and contortion of the face and apparent spasms of pain or emotion before he reached an equilibrium. Then, in a deep, grumbling voice, he began to talk, the words proceeding to come from the usual Indian control, Black Hawk in this instance. He spoke for nearly two hours, chatting with us, joking, introducing other spirits, answering questions, and in all ways playing up the part. He gave the names of a dozen people at least upon the other side who had messages for my wife or for me—about equally divided between us—and everyone of these names did really represent some one who had lived.

The proceedings showed an intimate knowledge of my family history, so intimate that even if it could have been gathered from several books of reference, one could hardly imagine that it could all be carried into the memory and used with such unhesitating fluency and accuracy. John Doyle, my grandfather; Richard, my uncle; Charles, my father; Mary, my mother; Kingsley, my son, each spoke quite clearly about our relations. My grandfather said, "I saw you last when you were a little boy in 1885, a few months before my death. Quite true. A patient of South Sea days came back. Goodman came through as the name. He gave the date as 1881. He gave a favorite patient named Woodman at that time. I said, 'I hope I was not the cause of your passing over.' He laughed heartily at that, for merriment is by no means excluded. Malcolm Leckie, my very dear brother-in-law, gave his name. He said that he had started for the front from Blackheath. This was news to me, but it proved to be correct. I could only trace two absolute mistakes, one of which may have been a misunderstanding.

The control gave the impression of being surrounded by important spirits, for he kept muttering "Very good," "Wait your turn!" and so on, just as I have heard Button and others do in England. Altogether a man would be incapable of reason if he were not impressed by the whole performance, though some minds are so peculiar that a single mistake seems to do away with everything else, however successful. They do not consider that if we were seated as a go-between and were surrounded by twenty or thirty people, all giving various messages, which they wanted transmitted, we also would probably make a slip now and again.

Stefansson's results were very definite, but he did not seem able to check them as clearly as we, for they dealt with more remote ancestry. The Indian control had lived near Fort Garry, near Winnipeg, where he died in 1876. Stefansson knew the place, so the Indian mentioned several names, especially a Dr. Macpherson, but as Stefansson was only born in 1879 no common ground could be found, so that Stefansson was impressed rather by our experience than by his own.

In a later stage of our adventures we came across this remarkable medium again, and then I will discuss more fully my final convictions as to his powers, their limitations and their source.

OFF TO BOSTON

I had now most successfully completed my opening campaign in New York. Other extra lectures, to meet the great demand, were to be fitted in later. Meanwhile, my schedule was fixed for New England and off to Boston I went to see if I could get my message across in what has so long been the center of American literary culture. I left the family in their very comfortable quarters of the Ambassador Hotel, and accompanied only by Capt. Widdecombe, the very efficient aide-de-camp furnished by Mr. Keedick, I set forth on this new adventure.

But let me give one little paragraph to Walter Widdecombe before I start since then and afterward he was always the silent, often invisible, background of my narrative. I have a clear vision of him as I look back. Widdecombe was a tall, thin man, with the rakish hat, the debonaire, Widdecombe was deep amid luggage haranguing negro porters with his bundle of tickets in one hand and his cigarette in the other. In many guises I can see him, watching me with dark, soulful eyes as the train watches the pugilist, starting with questioning gaze at the intrusive pressman, holding me back as I endeavor to stride on the platform while the box office is still besieged, romping with the children, appearing with huge bundles of letters and a gentle request for an hour's attention. However, I am sure he is always quiet, always alert, always efficient. He had been adjutant to a rifle battalion in the war, though he had joined up as a civilian. You are fit to be the aide-de-camp of a Viceroy, Widdecombe, but all the same I hope you won't get into your own until I am sure whether I am likely to want you as comrade in America once again.

MOSLEMS ATTACK

LLOYD GEORGE TALK

INDIA UP IN ARMS AGAINST PREMIER; EGYPT FAVORERS UTTERANCE

By John Steele
(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
LONDON, Oct. 18.—Prime Minister Lloyd George's speech Saturday has echoed loudly throughout the Moslem world. The outcry of the Indian press against the British Premier's "brass-facedness" continues. The Indian Daily Telegraph at Lucknow condemns the speech.

"Every thoughtless word the Premier uttered against the great Asiatic race has forever alienated the subjects of the British empire in the East and India will be scandalized by his reference to the 'Turks,'" it says.

Another few years of Mr. Lloyd George and there will be no British empire in the East," declares the Bombay Chronicle today.

An Englishman in Calcutta remarks that the speech contained little of the sobriety to be expected in the utterances of men who have attained positions of great responsibility.

Benegal and Bombay repudiate Lloyd George's right to take credit for the northeast settlement himself, saying it was the result of the suspension of war maneuvers in the Near East by the British because of the unwillingness of the dominions to send troops.

The Silent Nonco-operation paper, says the speech leaves no doubt that Great Britain will resist the Khalifat and Turkish demands with all her might. Egypt is powerfully stirred by the speech, but, contrary to India, it generally favors the pronouncement.

CONGRESS DEADLOCKED OVER IN PHILIPPINES
SENATE CANNOT MEET WHILE LOWER HOUSE TIED IN CONTRADICTION

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
MANILA, Oct. 18.—The Legislature, which convened yesterday, is unable to proceed with business owing to a deadlock in the lower house which has continued two days before tonight's adjournment until Thursday.

On account of the fact that no party in the House has a majority some coalition is necessary to permit its organization. All three factions have appointed intelligence committees in an attempt to solve the problem by Thursday. In the meantime, Gov. Wood's message, which it is understood includes recommendations for early action on financial and economic subjects, cannot be delivered. The executive is urging harmony in which even the press is joining.

The Senate is not meeting pending the organization of the House. It is most probable the combination aims to defeat Quezon's candidature for the speakership.

EGGS RECORD PRICE
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Extra eggs were quoted by the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics here today at 66 1/2 cents a record price thus far for the year.

Profit in Quick Turnover

Some investors in real estate have no intention of building themselves—they buy solely for profit in turnover. Others build a home on their lot with the expectation of selling at a generous advance. It is a good business—in the right location. It is often the sole source of income of many families.

Quick and easy profits have already been made in Western Avenue Park and Belle Mead—all in a few short months. Bigger profits are going to be made as the City expands out beyond this property—because it has all the attractions for the home owner as well as for the investor.

The city's marvelous growth along Western Avenue to the southwest is irresistible and inevitable—Western Avenue Park and Belle Mead are unquestionably the most desirable property in all this territory. The sooner you buy your lot, the greater your profit will be.

Make an appointment with us to take you out today—there is no obligation whatsoever. Let us show you how you can make money on a small initial investment.

Golfing Champions Start Transcontinental Trip on First of New Year

GOLF STARS IN AMERICAN TOUR

Sarazen and Hutchinson to Show Process

Later Sail for England to Compete Abroad

Uncle Sam's Laid Regarded as Link's Marvel

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The popular Jack Hutchinson, ex-British open champion, and the amazing Gene Sarazen, American open titleholder, will start on a transcontinental tour January 1 at San Francisco. After swinging around the continent the pair will sail in early spring to compete in the British open championship. For all-around ability, popularity, personality and color there are no two golfers who are the equal of Sarazen and Hutchinson.

Hutchinson has won every title and tournament of note with the exception of the American open, in which he has twice been runner-up. This year he led the qualifying field in the American championship with the lowest total ever recorded in any championship meeting.

AMAZING YOUTH
Grantland Rice, famous sports authority, says: "Sarazen is an amazing youth. One of the greatest golfers of all time. Only four years ago he was just a caddy boy. Today, at 25, he is champion of the United States, polished, gentlemanly, friendly and, withal, extremely modest and well-mannered—a credit in every respect to the game of golf."

J. H. Taylor, the great English professional, says: "Sarazen is the greatest golfer I have ever seen." Abe Mitchell and George Duncan agree that the American champion is a marvel. The champion has proved his worth in this one year alone.

WITHIN MONTHS
Within a month after winning the national open title he won the American professional championship at Pittsburgh, where he defeated the pick of the country's professional golfers—including Jim Barnes and Jack Hutchinson—at match play. Winning these two important titles in the same year is something no other golfer has ever accomplished.

Finally, on October 1 and 2, he met and conquered Walter Hagen, British open champion, in seventy-two holes of match play, by 1 and 2. Like Hutchinson, Sarazen has every shot over original. He can play the "stomper" shot quite as effectively as the master himself. He can drive up with Mitchell, MacDonald, Barnes and all of the other long hitters.

VICTORY OR SUICIDE FOR ENGEL; HE'LL GO OVER IF HE DOESN'T "GO OVER" TONIGHT

BY GERALD FIDGE

Helmie Engel is making his last stand. It's a hard stand, too. If the Dubuque (Iowa) grappler doesn't "go over" in his match with Walter Miller at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight, he'll go over the top of the Mercury Club building, to be swallowed up by the traffic of the "Roaring Twenties" far below.

The contestants are trained to the minute. Both are middleweights who are ranked with the best grapplers in the world at their weight. The victor of tonight's bout will practically be ranked as the man to meet Johnny Meyers, present middleweight champion.

A terrific struggle is expected when Miller and Engel take the mat, as they are both desirous of strengthening their claims for a title bout with Meyers. Meyers defeated Miller a few months ago in a match that will be long remembered here by those who witnessed the tilt, while Engel met and defeated the present champion last spring and later earned a draw with him in another fray. Thus the caliber of tonight's principals may be adjudged and both men are legitimate middleweights.

Miller has been reluctant as to his long from play he has no superior.

IS A SEXTANT
Sarazen is a scion of the soundest type. The youth hits all of his shots with a firm, upright stroke. His swing is so compact there is little room for error in his game. He is as graceful as the veteran Harry Vardon or George Duncan. In shot, Sarazen is the wonder golfer of the present era. He has taken the East by storm. He is a lovely little lad, who is rapidly winning his way into the heart of the great American public.

LOYOLA IS HOST TO MANUAL AND POLY

Loyola College's lightweight football team stopped on the midway of the Manual Arts High School yesterday afternoon on the Loyola field, 11-7, in one of the hottest games seen in the city this year.

Loyola made its two markers in the last half by the forward-pass route from Hoffer to Hoffman. Hoffman was the star of the game, playing a last, hard game at end, and snatching a number of long passes. Campbell crossed the Loyola line for the first and last time in the initial half. He was done by means of an intercepted pass.

Polyschic High outmanned with the Loyola heavyweight between halves and, although no scores were kept, Loyola crossed the Poly goal about three times and Poly had only chance to go over.

WORLD SERIES REFUND SIXTH GAME RECEIPTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Edward Barry, business manager of the New York Yankees, announced that the club has 10,000 requests for refund of money for the sixth game of the world's series and that this money will be refunded just as quickly as the club's big staff is able to write the checks for each.

"It will take us about two more weeks to finish and write," said Barry.

ATTENDANCE RECORD IN MINORS BROKEN

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—All attendance records for the American Association were shattered during the 1934 season when the eight clubs played to an attendance of 1,529,375. President Hickey announced tonight. The previous high mark was last year when the attendance reached 1,444,444.

CLUB FIVE TRIMS SHIP FOR SEASON

Local Team Gets Under Way as California and Stanford Sign Up

The L.A.C.C. basketball team has arranged with the University of California and Stanford for games in the coming season, so the dope comes from Charley Keppen, athletic director.

In facing these two teams the club boys are facing a fast bunch of players if past games are any indication of standing. And these two games the local team will meet U.S.C. the winning team and many of the fastest teams in the country.

The team itself has not yet been formed, but Leo Slaughter, as acting captain and manager, is getting together the old team and will round up any new material that is available. The members of the team will be known as the "Aggies," and will be coached by the old Van Pel, Fred Olney, Fred Wilson, Moe, John Sweet, and other famous that show up.

In past years the Mercury boys have turned out some classy canbats. Last season the team went through the season with but one defeat after making some fast opponents. If things turn out as expected the club five will get through another season with no defeat.

PLEASED WITH BEARS' SHOWING

Coch Smith Thinks Squad is Rounding To

Work Against St. Mary's is Very Encouraging

Two Sets of Backs Landed by Sporting Scribes

(RECEIVES DISPATCH)
BERKELEY, Oct. 18.—Coach "Andy" Smith seemed pretty well pleased with the improvement the Bears have shown during the past week. The California team is rounding into better shape, and Smith is confident of a victory over St. Mary's in the historic game with Ohio State two years ago at Pasadena.

"Amusing incident appears in our history. In 1931, when L. A. was the only prep school in the city, finding their team weak at the beginning of the season, the students scoured 'round for material and when they played Occidental, they had a conductor for fullback, and a carpenter and several other laymen in the line-up."

"In those days football games were played in old Chutes Park which was at the corner of Main and Washington streets."

"In the year 1903 L. A. High defeated the University of California and for the first time in the history of California brought the State championship south."

"Finding themselves deeply in debt at the end of the season to William Hoegge Company for equipment, the team played a game against an all-star eleven, captained by Bernal H. Dyer, who was then at the Hoegge company."

"The all-star team went down to defeat with the score 25-0, and the proceeds met the deficit."

My own impressions, rather vague and formed largely from hearsay, were that these games were played at Fiesta Park, Pico and Grand. Some years later Los Angeles High met and defeated such strong eleven as U.S.C. and Occidental. Never knew that the Blue and White met California, and do not know what would have been the occasion for such a game. Long about that time the Bears were so good that they lost to the crack Carlisle team by the narrow margin of 3 to 4, safely deciding the contest.

Fifteen thousand witnessed the game between Los Angeles High and Manual Arts. This is equal to the largest baseball crowd attending a Coast League game in this city during the season just closed. This football game was played by mere boys receiving nothing except the homage of the neighbors. The baseball game was played by trained, highly paid specialists, had back of it the excitement of a pennant race and the prestige of an organization embodying seven of the largest cities in the West.

I doubt that any moral is to be drawn, or that the comparison is necessarily a reflection on professional sports. It merely goes to indicate the tremendous growth of football, which a decade ago was a minor attraction alongside baseball. There is room for both, and they will always flourish. However, I am not sure that football is not a more typically American game than baseball. Trickery and subterfuge, slipping something over on the other fellow or the umpire, is a part of baseball, and the stamp of a smart maneuver or player. These things are accepted and applauded, yet nearly every crowd is quick to manifest its disapproval of any player overstepping the recognized practices of the diamond and indulging in what is technically known as a "dirty work."

This is a smashing rather than a tricky nation, and it is just possible our "radical" characteristics are more faithfully reflected on the football field than on the diamond.

WHAT THE PREPS ARE DOING

Jack Smith, one of the finest quarterbacks in the city last year, was laid low last week after he had a bad cold and a sore throat. He is now in the hospital, and it is doubtful if he will be able to play this season.

Two decades ago football teams were not building stadiums to seat from 50,000 to 80,000 persons. In fact, they were plodding along in a condition of poignant penury for the most part. They were frequently even shy of equipment, and sometimes there was a lion or a mortgage on such equipment as they wore.

Also, statement that Los Angeles High School once met and defeated the University of California, bringing the State football championship south for the first and last time to date, is likely to occasion surprise and some negative votes. The following interesting bit of football history is taken from the Blue and White, official newspaper organ of the Roman, everwhis Rurals and Pioneer.

"Amusing incident appears in our history. In 1931, when L. ## REAL SOCCER BEGINS SUNDAY

Double-Header Carded at Washington Park

Skill of Bagpipers to Add Zip to Contests

First Game Scheduled to Start at 1 o'Clock

The fact that the Los Angeles Scottish are threatening to bring with them to Washington Park next Sunday for the game with the Overcast a corps of bagpipe players has struck terror to the hearts of their adversaries. While the weird music from the pipes is dear to the heart of the Scots, it has been known to have had a very different effect on those who are not from the north of the Tweed. A story is told of a Gordon Highlander about to "go west" at one of the battles of the front-line trenches during the World War.

He was asked if there was anything special he would like to do before setting out on the great adventure. He seemed grateful for the offer and suggested that his passing would be sweetened by the skill of the bagpipers. It was accordingly arranged to have an expert play in the ward that night.

To the consternation of the doctors and nurses the following morning, the Highlander was found to have completely recovered, but that they will need the aid of the pipers. They will pin their hopes on the same line-up that held the strong Samson Tire Company eleven last Sunday to a scoreless tie. From being a dark horse in the league they have by virtue of their showing in practice games earned the respect of the best clubs.

Overcast will be without the services of Joe Tuntelle and Hurrey, who have transferred their activities to Samson Tire. Manager Shedd, however, has been able to import four or five good men who will show their wares to local fans for the first time.

The game will start at 1 p.m. prompt, and will be followed by the L. A. United-Samson Tire contest.

BOXING BOUTS ARE IN BAD IN SEATTLE

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE)
SEATTLE, Oct. 18.—Presence of the "outside influences" which the Seattle boxing commission deems detrimental to the sport in the city, has brought about a decision by the commission to suspend boxing activities, it was said today.

The commission's announcement did not make clear the nature of the alleged deleterious influences.

A new and highly interesting combination of genius was announced yesterday at the Lasky studio. In fact, if Allan Dwan had been asked what star he would like to direct, and if Bela Daniels had been asked what director she would like to have guide her young feet through the mazes of artistry involved in a new picture, it is quite likely that each would have mentioned the other's name. At any rate, the felicitous combination has been effected, and both are exceedingly enthusiastic.

ORPHEUM ANNOUNCES
ANNIVERSARY PLANS
Detailed plans for its Third of a Century Anniversary Week, to be held near Monday, were announced by the Orpheum yesterday. They make the internal arrangements for the public enjoyment as significant as the exterior decorations are elaborate. There will be special events every night of the week. Monday, will be Civic night, when Mayor Cryer, and the city officials will be guests, and the Mayor will make a speech of congratulation. Tuesday night the Advertising Club will hold forth and interest its own show into the regular bill. Wednesday night the Optimists will do likewise. Thursday night the Lions' Club will put on a show of its own in the middle of the bill, and Friday night the City Club will be present. Saturday night will be the great all-around event. The bill for the week is specially selected, with Doc Baker in "Fishers" a protestant musical comedy, and Rags Samuels, held over, as headliner. Chick York and Rose King in "The Old Family Picture" are also featured. Other acts include Fisher and Herbert Smith and Strong, and Herbert and Dave, with William Sully, whose pre-arrangements have been in vogue since the beginning of the Orpheum. As a special feature, all the artists on the bill will combine in an afterpiece, written for the occasion, staged by York and King, and in which every artist in the bill will participate. It is described as a riot of "ad lib" fun, with neither plot nor meaning, but with special costumes and scenery, and it will show every show in a line of merit. All in all, it looks like a very big week.

ART THEATER GIVES "ARMS AND THE MAN"
What is generally pronounced one of the best productions ever made in the West of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" is on show at the Pasadena Community Playhouse this week. None other than the ginger-bread matinee could or would attempt to write a farce-comedy on war. It is all the more striking after the World War and the rumors of wars that will not down abroad. It is doubtful if a more brilliant scenic presentation has been made of "Arms and the Man" anywhere. The settings and costumes were all designed by Leroy D. Ely. Owing to the Bulgarian atmosphere, the rainbow has rightly been stripped of its colors, and they are all permitted to run riot on the two-by-four stage of the moth-eaten little temple of art in Pasadena. The cast is well-balanced. Belle Mitchell of Hollywood, is appearing with the Pasadena Community Playhouse. She is the baggage. The role of Capt. Bluntschli is taken by Gilmor Brown, director of the Community Playhouse, under whose supervision "Arms and the Man" was staged. Mrs. A. H. Palmer and Thyrus Ruhland are always well within the picture. Others who add materially to the pleasure of the performance are: Dr. H. F. Beekman, Howard McVie, Maurice Wells and W. V. Ogier, Jr.

WASHINGTON, octubre 18.—Las próximas conferencias para la reorganización de las guardias nacionales han despertado alarma en los oficiales del ejército, quienes temen que la ley promulgada hace dos años empese, en lugar de mejorar, con los cambios proyectados.

La Comisión Huelera del Presidente Harding ha elegido presidente a la misma a John Hays Hammond, y está haciendo preparativos para reunirse en conferencias la semana entrante.

De nuevo ha renunciado el Presidente Harding la amnistía a los presos políticos, en carta que dirige al Dr. John A. Ryan, del Consejo del Bienestar Católico. En dicha carta no accede a la petición de nueva audiencia.

WASHINGTON, octubre 18.—Las próximas conferencias para la reorganización de las guardias nacionales han despertado alarma en los oficiales del ejército, quienes temen que la ley promulgada hace dos años empese, en lugar de mejorar, con los cambios proyectados.

La Comisión Huelera del Presidente Harding ha elegido presidente a la misma a John Hays Hammond, y está haciendo preparativos para reunirse en conferencias la semana entrante.

De nuevo ha renunciado el Presidente Harding la amnistía a los presos políticos, en carta que dirige al Dr. John A. Ryan, del Consejo del Bienestar Católico. En dicha carta no accede a la petición de nueva audiencia.

WILKENS TRIES TO WEAKEN CONFESSION

DEFENSE WITNESS TELLS REMARKS MADE BY CASTOR IN JAIL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Interest in the murder trial of Henry Wilkens centered today in testimony for the defense by Louis H. Burkhart that the confession by Arthur Castor, the prosecution's chief witness, implicating Wilkens in the slaying of his wife, Mrs. Anna Wilkens, was by Castor's own statement connected by himself and William F. Herron, an attorney.

Burkhart, an interior decorator, said he was a cellmate of Castor's for a time at the County Jail while Castor was awaiting trial on a bad check charge and he, himself, was serving a sentence for contempt of court for failure to pay alimony. The second day they were together Castor told him a number of things about the Wilkens case, he testified.

Arthur Castor told him, the witness said, that he did not know Wilkens but that he had nothing to do with the killing of Mrs. Wilkens, and that he and his brother, Walter Castor, planned the automobile hold-up which resulted in her death as the result of information from an employee in Wilkens's garage to the effect that Wilkens was carrying a large sum of money with him.

Herron got the facts from which the confession was built up from statements made by Wilkens to Dist. Atty. Brady, according to the story Burkhart said Castor told him, the confession being afterward memorized until, Castor stated, "no attorney could shake him."

Burkhart was put through a severe cross-examination by the prosecution, who drew from him admissions that he had not told the authorities about Castor's statements to him, and also forced him to admit that he had testified as a witness in an automobile collision case which he had learned of by answering a newspaper advertisement asking for witnesses of the affair. He also admitted testifying in another damage case in Spokane, Wash., his former home.

GRANT JONES WILL AIDS CALIFORNIA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Nellie Grant Jones, only daughter of Gen. U. S. Grant and a White House bride in 1874, left an estate of $75,000, according to a petition for letters of administration filed today. She died here August 20.

The entire estate is bequeathed to her husband, Frank H. Jones, former assistant Postmaster General and her personal belongings are given to her two children by her first husband, Algernon Edward Sartoris, of Bournemouth, England, and Vivian May Sartoris Scovel of London. A granddaughter, Rosemary Sartoris Woolston, of New York, and Ulysses S. Grant, Jr., of San Diego, Cal., are also mentioned in the will.

HARDING WOULD HAVE AMERICA AID WORLD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—President Harding was quoted by delegates to the conference on Allied Christian Societies who called upon him at the White House tonight just before the close of their two-day meeting as declaring that the nation, in his opinion, would never depart from the Eighteenth Amendment. The President, the delegates said, expressed his further belief that the country, in its international relations, should do its utmost for the rest of the world.

The President greeted the delegates in his study and listened to an address made on their behalf by Fred B. Smith, chairman of the conference, who said the conference was interested in two things: enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the exercise of America's full duty to the rest of the world.

WINTER TO BRING OIL SHORTAGE TEST

(Exclusive Dispatch.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Petroleum Age sees in both eastern refining centers and the midcontinent a real shortage of available tank cars indicating healthier business and activity.

"Were it not for potential production in fields discovered the last two or three months, the general situation as regards the petroleum industry would not be at all bad."

At the end of September, Oklahoma showed 281 fewer operations than a month ago; North Central Texas, 137, and Louisiana and Arkansas about seventy, but there still is doubt as to whether curtailment has been put in effect.

The past seven days combined production from all fields in the Southwest averaged 1,000,000 barrels by fully 10,000 barrels a day.

"Winter will bring a real test. Whether the purchasing agencies do not get the price of crude again depends on how fast production is reduced. Certainly a better record must be made than the last few weeks. There also is the ever apparent spectre of immense new pools yet undiscovered, on rather, those in early process of development."

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A. H. Harris, vice-president in charge of finance of the New York Central lines, denied today the report that the directors were planning an early issue of $50,000,000 stock at par.

Regarding the outlook for an increase in the dividend rate, Mr. Harris pointed out that action on the November disbursement has already been taken.

As to the prospect for next year, Mr. Harris said that the question had not yet been settled, but would be taken up at the proper time.

RAIL CONSOLIDATION

(Exclusive Dispatch.)

A. P. Blair, general counsel of the Southern Pacific, in reference to the application made by the Southern Pacific to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to acquire control of the Pacific, said today: "It is self-evident that the consolidation of all existing railway properties into approximately twenty systems could not be accomplished if the commission were to be controlled by the prohibitions of the Sherman Act."

The wide departure from the policy of the old law and that of the new is shown by the fact that the commission's tentative plan of consolidation was promulgated Aug. 3, 1921, provides for the continued common control of the Reading Railway and the Central of Jersey, which had been declared by the Supreme Court on April 28, 1920, to be in violation of the Sherman law.

For the common control of the Burlington and Northern Pacific, two of the companies whose common control was declared by the Supreme Court in the Northern Securities case to be in violation of the Sherman law and for the consolidation of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Great Northern Railroad, although those two great systems are parallel and competing throughout."

GROUPING PLAN

Questioned today regarding the possibility of early Congressional action upon the proposition of making the grouping plan for the railroad compulsory, Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, said that so far he has received no intimation of such proposed action, but if such a move were made, it would find the railroad in a passive attitude.

This attitude will be maintained until the framing and the scope of legislation has been clearly defined.

SEPTEMBER EARNINGS

From sources in close touch with railway affairs here it is learned that September earnings will probably be restricted to some extent by the after effects of the railway strike and the consequent expenses which went over that month.

PENNSY DIVIDEND

Although traffic on the Pennsylvania is at present holding up well, a director of the road today declared that the increased dividend on this company's stock was not a certainty at the coming meeting.

It is regarded as a foregone conclusion that an increase in the dividend rate is coming, but it is regarded as likely that the road would probably prefer to check off all of the expenses of the late strike before making this move.

COAL LOADINGS

Loading of all commodities, except coal, for the week ended September 30, was 805,032 cars, which was the heaviest loading (excluding coal) of any week in the history of the railroads.

The loading of coal was 189,849 cars, or about 10 per cent less than in the corresponding week of 1920, in which year coal loadings were the heaviest on record, and in which there were no strikes of shippers or shippers' men, immediately preceding the heavy autumn traffic.

REPUBLIC EARNINGS

The Republic Iron and Steel report for the third quarter reflected the unfavorable operating conditions obtaining over the summer months. The deficit of $138,676 for the period compares with a net profit of $18,812 in the June quarter.

However, the deficit in the same quarter, 1921, totaled $1,398,418.

CONTINENTAL OIL

Continental Oil earnings are believed to be running from $25 to $28 per share on the common. There is still considerable talk of a resumption of dividends on this issue, probably at the rate of 6 per cent to 7 per cent.

PARCELS POST SURVEY

One well-known commission house today had a wire report to the effect that the postoffice is making a careful examination of the parcels post business with the idea of discovering, if possible, just how profitable this department is, and it is considered probable that a flat rate may be made which will equalize parcel post rates with express companies' rates.

This would be of immense benefit to the express companies, although at present time the express companies are flooded with all the business they Consumers Power Co. First Lien and Unifying Mortgage Gold Bonds Series C, 5%, Due 1952. Dated Nov. 1, 1922. Due Nov. 1, 1952. Interest payable May 1 and November 1 in New York City, without deduction of the normal federal income tax up to 2%.

Four mills tax in Pennsylvania and in Connecticut refundable upon appropriate application. Tax exempt in the State of Michigan. Issuance subject to authorization by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission.

The letter of Mr. George E. Hardy, Vice-President of the company, giving further information regarding these bonds, has been summarized by him as follows:

The Consumers Power Company, operating in lower Michigan, serves with gas and electricity one of the most important industrial sections of the entire country, having an estimated population of 775,000. Over 66% of the electric energy generated in the past year was produced by the company's hydro-electric stations.

First lien and unifying mortgage bonds will be secured by a direct mortgage subject to the liens of underlying mortgages on all the physical property of company, by the pledge with the trustee of $7,839,500 underlying bonds and by the similar pledge of all the first mortgage bonds and stock of a subsidiary company which will own certain gas and electric properties, including a large steam generating station to be constructed.

The proceeds from the sale of the present 5% issue will be used to retire $11,545,000 funded debt bearing 7% interest, and in addition will provide for property expenditures.

Additional first lien and unifying mortgage bonds may be authenticated only under conservative restrictions. The mortgage will provide for a strong sinking fund, and a general reserve fund for the adequate maintenance and renewal of the properties.

For the past ten years net earnings have averaged 2 1/4 times the interest for such period on funded debt, and in each of these years bond interest charges were earned at least 2 1/4 times.

Gross earnings twelve months ended September 30: 1921 $14,384,415; 1922 $14,715,586. Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes: 1921 $5,825,299; 1922 $5,177,832. Net earnings: 1921 $8,559,114; 1922 $9,537,754. Annual interest charges on $14,427,800 bonded debt (including this issue) bearing 5% interest: 1921 $711,190; 1922 $721,390. Balance: 1921 $7,839,500; 1922 $8,816,364.

NET EARNINGS OVER 2.15 TIMES ANNUAL BOND INTEREST CHARGES.

The value of the property is very largely in excess of the outstanding bonds, which are followed by $32,294,200 par value dividend paying capital stocks. Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

We offer these bonds if, as and when issued and received by us subject to the approval of our counsel. It is expected that interim certificates will be ready for delivery on November 1, 1922.

Business; Financial; Markets; Investment MEN AND BUSINESS

BY RICHARD SPIELMAN

Two eminent men who have been studying the ailments of Europe happened to make reports of their findings on the same day, one in Berlin, the other in New York.

One of the diagnosticians is Dr. William H. P. Faunce, president of Brown University. He gave his views in an address to the Metropolitan Ministers Conference.

The other is Professor Jeremiah W. Jenks, for years at the head of the department of political economy at Cornell University. He expressed his opinion in Berlin and his remarks were cabled to this country.

Dr. Faunce says he did not find a man in Europe who could see a way out of the difficulties that are piling higher and higher day by day. The line between chaos and civilization is moving westward from Moscow into Germany and Austria and may engulf all Europe. In Vienna, he said, the people dance half the night and starve most of the day.

On the other hand, Prof. Jenks declares there is a pronounced change for the better in the attitude of hopelessness and despair. He says, the people of Central Europe have come to the belief that there is a way out of their difficulties and there is a determination developing to make every effort to obtain internal stability.

Dr. Faunce appeared to think the only possible way in which Europe could be saved was by a great religious awakening and he appealed to the clergymen he addressed to arouse the moral consciousness of America that moral and material aid be given to settling Europe's dreadful problems.

Prof. Jenks, on the other hand, says Central Europe has had an overdose of despondency and is now turning to sound common sense, thinking which will point the way to correction of the many difficulties which harass the people.

Which of these men is right?

Germany's troubles have been aggravated by the lack of agreement on the amount of reparations to be paid and to this has been

DAILY TRADE TALK

Los Angeles Offers Fertile Field for Clothing Manufacturers; Treasury Refunding

Los Angeles as a future center of a great clothing manufacturing industry was envisioned yesterday by local operators. Because of the favorable conditions which exist in this city for the clothing manufacturers, they assert that the consuming public would substantially benefit by the establishment of factories in Los Angeles and vicinity on a large scale, and they point out that through the advantages gained from buying cloth at favorable prices they would be able to compete on highly advantageous terms with the eastern brands which now dominate this market.

Prices of woolen cloth have already increased 20 to 40 cents a yard because of the scarcity of raw wool in the United States, and the manufacturers are looking for a prohibitory duty on imports, the source from which 45 per cent of the American supply normally comes, and manufacturers are confidently expecting that quotations will be easily raised to around 50 cents a yard before the fall and winter buying reaches its peak.

Manufacturers, according to C. J. D. Eyer, president of the Golden State Mills, are engaging in spirited competition for the domestic supply, and having to pay higher prices than in ordinary times. It is a natural sequence that quotations on woolen goods advance.

Retail consumers, however, have no complaint against the manufacturer, as statistics prepared on the relation of prices of raw wool and woolen cloth show that cloth prices have increased only nominally in proportion to the sharp gains registered in raw wool. Since May 1931, raw wool has advanced 50 per cent, while woolen cloth has increased 1 1/2 per cent. Expressed automatically, the comparison is 23 per cent of the raw wool consumed in the United States, but not grown here. Sheepmen, producing 52 per cent of the wool used in this country, have been favored continuously by a high protective tariff, and are able to hold their crops at considerably higher prices than prevail in Australia, as is evidenced by the present instance, where raw wool can be imported to Los Angeles under the price paid for domestic wool, including all charges involved in transportation, and allowing for the 31 cent per pound duty.

RAW WOOL

The cost of raw wool is now about 23 1/2 per cent of the cost of woolen cloth, whereas in normal times raw wool only accounts for about 17 per cent. Under this condition manufacturers are forced to quote higher prices this season for their goods, but the prices quoted so far are as yet not in alignment with the prices paid for the raw product. Manufacturers' schedules quoted thus far amount of increases in the price of a suit of clothes of from $1.40 to $2.31 for a suit containing the average of three and one-half yards of cloth.

A Pacific Coast manufacturer is in a more favorable position relative to securing imported wool than the eastern mill owner, in the opinion of Mr. Eyer, and may be in a position to lay down woolen cloth at better prices. Imports of raw wool can be secured from Australia direct to Los Angeles about 10 cents a pound cheaper than the prevailing domestic prices around $1.35.

This estimate includes freight charges, insurance, etc., and is made possible partly through the policy of manufacturers on this coast who purchase their own wool direct, and not through brokers, as is the custom in the East. Eastern mills buying from the wool broker, have to have their cargoes sent from Australia to London, and from London to Boston, while the Pacific Coast manufacturer has a direct route in his favor.

About six months' time is required for the arrival of wool from Australia to the Atlantic Coast, and interest charges on the money involved eat heavily into the profit of the eastern manufacturer. In addition, he is confronted with the hardship of paying a rate between Australia and London that is twice as high as the schedule between London and Boston. These factors result in favor of the western manufacturer.

AGRICULTURAL BONDS

Drake, Riley & Thomas are offering $105,000 Winchester Agricultural Corporation first mortgage 7 per cent serial bonds at 101 to yield 6.50 to 6.90 per cent, according to maturity. The bonds are secured by a first mortgage on 648 acres of developed farm and orchard land located in Riverside county in the fruit belt near Hemet.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

The second quarterly 1 per cent dividend on the preferred stock of the Cinema Finance Corporation is authorized to be paid on October 15. The Cinema Finance Corporation was organized in Los Angeles through the assistance of local capital, and is financing the better class of motion pictures.

OIL OPERATIONS

Oil field operations reported to State Oil and Gas Supervisor R. E. Collier during the week ending the 14th inst. show twenty-one new wells started, as compared with thirty-three during the previous week. The total new wells this year is 1095, as compared with 1034 the same date last year.

Bi-Currency

Refunding is German Cure

[BY CARL-EKLEHNS DISPATCH.] (Copyright, 1933, Public Ledger.)

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Germany is going on a bi-currency basis. The Reichsbank's gold reserves are being used to refund the national debt.

The new issue will be in the form of gold certificates based upon the Reichsbank's gold reserves. The notes can be purchased for their equivalent in paper marks and are redeemable at their gold value at the time of redemption.

The proposed issue is hoped will serve the main purpose of the present reckless spending by providing a stable currency in which people with the savings habit can place their accumulations with the certainty of getting what they put in without depreciation. The second idea is to introduce a gold measure of value in the form of a new unit of foreign money, the accumulations of which for domestic purposes is one of the contributors to the mark's depreciation.

A purchaser of goods for future delivery will now be able to make a contract in terms of the new gold currency and cover himself in certificates instead of rushing to an exchange broker to buy dollars or pounds and holding them until delivery and will enable the manufacturer and dealer to calculate costs of production and prices with some certainty.

It is reported the Cabinet bill proposes to use the pound sterling instead of the dollar as a measuring rod for establishing the value of the gold certificates in paper money.

RUSSIAN BONDS ARE AGAIN IN DEMAND

[BY CARL-EKLEHNS DISPATCH.] PARIS, Oct. 18.—The prospects of a Franco-Russian commercial agreement was reflected in the enormous movement of old Russian 5 per cent bonds which suddenly jumped from 18 to 30.

It is reported that a big syndicate is attempting to obtain control in order to push them up to 45. The operation is based on Edouard Herriot's report, and the belief that France will soon make a deal with the soviets which will include the recognition of French losses under the Czar. It is stated one financial group has taken a single order for 10,000,000 francs in bonds.

LOWER YIELDS NOT POPULAR

Investors Turn Up Nose at Paltry 5 1-2 Per Cent

Speculators Quiescent; Some Are Selling Out

Copper Stocks About Ready to Loop the Loop

BY C. B. EVANS

(Copyright, 1933, Public Ledger.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—A citizen making a tour among investors to-day notices a peculiar stillness and in their faces something suggestive of upturned noses. Evidently their minds are in a condition where purpose is lacking and it is even considered too much trouble to waver a little. The explanation given by bond dealers is that these investors do not care for the low yields on the basis of which bonds are now sold, 5 1/2 per cent seeming tame after they have surfeited themselves with 7 and 8 per cent riches.

"They are putting out bonds on too low a yield" is the verdict. Expectation as to further issues in the near future is weak.

Also, there is a bait in stock speculation and a good many of the small operators are selling out. It is a little early for the gloom of December to be having its effect on the minds of these persons but they see the fog and the darkness of that group afar off.

The front that has fallen on the market is a patch of blights, also, the leaves of plants growing near by, in which people with the savings habit can place their accumulations with the certainty of getting what they put in without depreciation. The second idea is to introduce a gold measure of value in the form of a new unit of foreign money, the accumulations of which for domestic purposes is one of the contributors to the mark's depreciation.

A purchaser of goods for future delivery will now be able to make a contract in terms of the new gold currency and cover himself in certificates instead of rushing to an exchange broker to buy dollars or pounds and holding them until delivery and will enable the manufacturer and dealer to calculate costs of production and prices with some certainty.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Profit-taking, combined with short selling, based on the theory that the market had been overbought, caused a general reaction. Prices of prices today on the stock market. Trading was largely in the hands of professionals. Mexican Petroleum continued to be a speculative favorite, moving within a radius of 14 points, and closing at a net loss of 7 points. Standard Oil of New Jersey was strong, extending its gain to 3 1/2 points. National Biscuit, which touched a new high at 24 1/2 in the first hour, closed at 23 1/4 at a net gain of 1 1/4. Steels were among the heaviest of the standard shares. The sharp 1 1/2-point drop in Re-public was influenced by the publication of the report for the quarter ending September 30, which showed a deficit of $138,676, after taxes and charges, as compared with a profit of $56,582 in the preceding quarter. The rail and coal strikes undoubtedly are responsible for this unfavorable showing. United States Steel common closed at 108 1/4, off 1/2, and Crucible was off 1 1/4.

Rails again lagged behind the rest of the list, but a brief rally took place in Northern Pacific, which touched 53. Fractional and cession were the rule among other standard railroad shares.

Equipments also yielded in the

It is a substantial, going concern. It has liberal credit with Los Angeles banks. Its success is bringing it a greater and greater demand for its services as a broad gauge financial institution.

Its activities are strictly confined to the field of legitimate finance. It handles no speculative securities. But it does meet a vital and rapidly growing need for financing the operations of furniture houses, electric appliance dealers, real estate companies and home building concerns—all of whom operate on a time payment plan, and constantly need working capital.

The securities offered by such concerns are of the highest grade; First Mortgages, Trust Deeds, Building Loans, Lease Contracts, Accounts Receivable, Motor Contracts, Acceptances, Real Estate Contracts.

"TIMES" TO HAVE FINEST, MOST POWERFUL RADIO STATION IN THE WEST

Again leading the Pacific field of progress, The Times is now installing a 500-watt Western Electric broadcast station with an effective range covering the entire Pacific Slope and, under favorable conditions, reaching as far as the Atlantic seaboard. The new equipment represents the acme of engineering research and skill and will operate under a Class-B license and broadcast on a 400-meter wave length. This classification will admit of The Times going on the air at any time from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., independent of any other station in this part of the country. It will be the only station enjoying such a privilege.

Last night KJH closed down for a few days pending completion of the new station, complete details of which will appear in Sunday's Times.

Within a fortnight the new radio leviathan, freighted with a world cargo of news, educational matter, music and entertainment, will be launched on the air. The Times station will be the first set of its magnitude to be installed west of Kansas City and will be the first western plant to qualify for the very exacting Class-B rating under provisions recently established by the Department of Commerce.

These provisions require a guarantee of dependable news matter, music and entertainment of a high quality and admit of the use of phonograph records or mechanical music for the purpose of emergency only. The Times will fulfill that classification and believes that the consummation of its plans for radio broadcast will constitute a far-reaching, public-spirited, humanitarian achievement in the interest of life, liberty and happiness.

CULT TITLE IN DISPUTE

Healer Here Avers St. Louis Mystic of Same Name Died With His Reputation

Despatches from St. Louis, Mo., telling of the death of Francis Schiatter, asserted divine healer, evolved a bizarre case of dual identity yesterday when a Los Angeles man who was convicted under the name of Francis Schiatter here in 1917 of using the mails to defraud while posing as "King of Divine Healers" requested The Times to deny the story of his death.

Francis Schiatter of Los Angeles staunchly insisted that he was the only bona-fide, genuine, original Francis Schiatter, "famed healer" and expressed doubts of the authenticity of the St. Louis case.

SENT TO PRISON

A few years ago his affections, built on credulity and religious beliefs of alluring victims, were shattered by his conviction in the Federal Court here on charges of using the mails to defraud. He was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment at McNeil's Island for capitalizing on his pretended healing miracles, such as accepting donations and fees for "blessed" handkerchiefs.

MOUNTBATTEN LIVES US

Prince of Wales' Cousin and His Wife Make Seelies at Home in Doug Fairbanks' Residence

BY THE INTERVIEWER

Just because Lord Louis Francis Mountbatten of London, Eng., and his bride are staying at Doug Fairbanks' house the city editor sent us out there yesterday.

We went out at 2 o'clock. At 3 o'clock Mary Pickford's parrot gazed with its left eye intently at the sunflower seed we held out to it. It then preferred our finger, and still has a piece of it.

We didn't care for the parrot. At 4 o'clock Miss Fairbanks' pet police dog discovered us, sniffed our right leg, and then walked directly in the middle of our new shirt. He had been walking in some soft sand. We didn't care for the dog either.

At 5 o'clock Lord Louis Francis Mountbatten came in. He didn't talk like his name. He didn't shake hands with two fingers. We liked him.

This Mountbatten, or Lord Louis or whatever it is he's called, is a regular fellow. He likes all of America, too—that is, all except the reporters in New York and Chicago who quoted him as saying:

Plans of the new company include the production of four feature films with all-star casts. Contracts for the release of these feature films have been signed. Twelve comedies are to be made each year in addition to the feature films. Mr. Baddely said.

Accompanying Mr. Baddely's party for a portion of the tour will be Henry B. Walthall, Milton Sills, Johnnie Walker, and other stars. The tour will be announced.

FRANK MAYO IN MARITAL MESS

First Wife Strives to Have Divorce Set Aside

Woman Asserts She Was Unable to Answer

Condition Similar to Case of Rodolph Valentino

Frank Mayo, Universal screen star, may experience a version of marital trials and tribulations similar to those which befell Rodolph Valentino, if his first wife, Joyce Eleanor Moore Mayo, is successful in her attempt to have the divorce decrees granted her husband on Sept. 28, 1921, set aside.

The opening skirmish in the legal battle which will either avenge or increase Mayo's dilemma will occur at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Judge Toland's court, to which the case has been transferred for argument. Judge Toland handed down the decree which Mrs. Mayo is now contesting.

The first Mrs. Mayo took the first step toward the invalidating of the decree yesterday, or rather her attorney, Neil S. McCarthy, took it for her as she is at present said to be in the chorus of a Parisian revue. A new order is desired on the ground that she was unable to appear and contest her husband's divorce action.

CRIME SCHOOL IS REVEALED

Stool-Pigeon's Arrest Leads to Expos

Suspect Trained Youthful Bandits, Charge

Passed Forged Checks, Say Deputies

An organized school for boy bandits was exposed yesterday when Roy Melendez was arrested on charges of grand larceny, passing worthless checks and impersonating an officer.

Melendez was a stool-pigeon, according to Deputy Sheriff Dewar and Stansland, who arrested him. He was recorded as one of the most efficient and observant "stoolies" of the underworld.

He was the man who escaped from the spectacular Union Ice plant battle several weeks ago, in which three masked men were killed by one of Sheriff Tamm's possemen. Melendez drove the automobile which conveyed the bandit gang to the ice plant to rob the place. Deputy sheriffs had been awaiting their coming and when they did arrive and held up the car, the officers opened fire and killed three of the gang.

Some folks wondered how the officers knew of the proposed robbery, and how they happened to be there. Melendez knew. He was a member of the gang and told the (Continued on Second Page)

"ROBIN HOOD" SUPERB FILM

Premiere of Fairbanks Photoplay at Dedication of Grauman's Hollywood Theater Proves Triumph

BY EDWIN SCHAEFER

A panorama of fantasy, a magic pictorial procession, a gay, dashing pageant of daring exploits and chivalric deeds, seen through the prism of legends and lighted by the moonbeams of romance, "Robin Hood," the long-awaited, disked, unfurled the radiant tapestry of its premiere last night in Hollywood.

A revelation of artistry, its advent was a symbol of a new triumph. Through its beauties were fancy and imagination set free and allowed to roam at will through the vaulted corridors of time. The tyranny of cinema prose was shaken, and the democracy of cinema poetry was mayhap proclaimed.

Certainly, this is the great picture of the year. Undoubtedly, too, it is the most artistic picture in the history of ocular narrative.

OLD EGYPT TRANSPLANTED

Grauman's New Hollywood Theater Opens; Resembles Palace of Long-Dead Pharaoh

Grauman's new Hollywood theater, an $800,000 building, threw open its doors last night for the world's premiere showing of Douglas Fairbanks' "Robin Hood."

Grauman has built his new show-house from ideas gleaned from the pages of Egyptian history. The architectural adornment and classic lines which make the structure stand out as a unique piece of construction have been taken from the time of the ancient builders, Memphra and Ostris.

The entrance to the theater, copied from the gateways to Egyptian palaces during the days of Cleopatra, is forty-five feet wide and 150 feet long. A high garden wall divides to the right, bearing hieroglyphs and weird designs. At the base of the wall, a massive (Continued on Second Page)

ALTERNATE RAIL PLAN PROPOSED

Long Beach Negotiating for Santa Fe Extension

Believe City Council Here Opposes Improvement

Road Officials Chagrined at Long Delay

Assuming from the months of delay the Santa Fe Railroad Company has experienced at the City Hall that Los Angeles does not welcome the extension of the railroad's line to Los Angeles Harbor, and is throwing every possible obstacle in the way of improvement, the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce has opened negotiations with the railroad for the building of the tracks to the ocean front at that city. The Long Beach citizens have promised the company every possible assistance in carrying out its desire to develop industries in and about the Greater Los Angeles Harbor district.

As a result of the overtures of Long Beach, Santa Fe engineers, under the direction of Assistant Chief Engineer Baumgartner, have begun surveys of a proposed alternate extension, which would carry the Santa Fe direct to Long Beach Harbor. This route would be two or three miles longer than the route which has been planned by the Santa Fe in its proposed Los Angeles Harbor extension, which has been pending at the Los Angeles City Hall for the last eight months.

L. W. Ballard, secretary of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that he had been in touch with Vice-President Chambers and General Manager Hibbard of the Santa Fe and laid before them the advantages of extending their transcontinental line to the ocean at Long Beach instead of to Wilmington and the Los Angeles Harbor district.

WELCOME AT LONG BEACH "We are going after the Santa Fe in earnest," said Secretary Ballard yesterday. "Long Beach welcomes the Santa Fe and will co-operate with the road in every way, making it possible to build to Long Beach. But a few miles additional tracings will be required to reach Long Beach over the proposed Wilmington-Los Angeles Harbor route, and the company's shipments could be handled at our docks and placed on steamers. Our industries are especially anxious that the Santa Fe be located at Long Beach, and we are doing everything possible to bring about this extension to our city."

Officials of the Santa Fe yesterday declined to make any statements relative to a probable change of plans in view of the delay at the Los Angeles City Hall, but did admit that Engineer Baumgartner and a crew of surveyors were on the ground securing data as to the proposed Long Beach extension.

At a recent conference between the officials of the Santa Fe and the Public Utilities Committee of the Council, Right of Way Agent Hayden and Attorney Reed of the company said:

DISAPPOINTMENT SHOWN "The Santa Fe has long desired and made its plans to build into Los Angeles Harbor and assist in the development of the port. We are willing to do everything in our power to co-operate with the city, we are naturally disappointed at the long delay."

From the expressions of the Santa Fe officials at this conference it was plainly indicated that they will not go to Long Beach or any other near-by harbor or abandon their plans entirely until they are finally convinced.

The Council is throwing up in the path of the improvement insurmountable obstacles or surrounding the granting of the franchise with unnecessary, impracticable and financially impossible conditions.

Officials of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce have expressed their disappointment at the delay at the Santa Fe.

A GAIN!

The Times yesterday morning again published numerous exclusive stories—news which the other morning newspaper failed to obtain. The list included developments of great interest and importance.

The Times led the other morning newspaper by twenty-four hours.

Again! The Times yesterday printed the exclusive news of the coming to Los Angeles of a man who says he is the son of William Desmond Taylor, slain film director, to fight for a share in the estate.

Again! The shake-up in the Lasky studio and the resignation of Frank E. Woods, head of the scenario department.

Again! The embassment charge against Alexander Von Bodo, asserted Hungarian Vice-Consul, by Mrs. May Allen.

Again! Offers of capitalists to purchase property of the Norwalk State Hospital for oil development.

Again! Promise of a building record for the month in Los Angeles.

Again! Announcement of plans for the construction of a million-dollar, thirteen-story hotel building at Long Beach.

Again! The jailing of five autoists in the police traffic drive.

Again! The request for a $50,000 appropriation for a survey of the San Gabriel flood-control dam project.

You don't get the news unless you read The Times.

IF WINTER COMES
The woodpeckers are promising the country a long, hard winter, but out here in California we don't have to believe every fool woodpecker that comes along.

SHINE 'EM UP
If you are spending a little matter of $15,000 in the purchase of paper towels for the use of the pupils in the Los Angeles schools. In the old days the children had to take their bath before they left home. Now our young folks must be kept clean all day. We hope it takes.

F AT PARTY
Gen. Von Hindenburg is reported as being a candidate for the Presidency of the German republic. He is said to be the choice of the National People's party for the nomination. How do they get that people's-party stuff to fit a heavyweight autocrat and monarchist?

BUT A DAM SITE
Expert engineers and geologists have returned from an exploration and research trip through the Glen Canyon country. If the government means to buy dam sites there are plenty of them. There are prospects that fully equal the Boulder project. The country is even bolder—a dam site holder. The sources of power are vast.

BACK TO EARTH
Dr. Conna Doyle passes in his description of the heavenly life long enough to tell us that his wife says she can find better and cheaper hals in this country than in Paris or at home. They have more artistic millinery and jewelry here in America than in England—and they cost less money. This will be a surprise to the American women themselves and it may help to cheer up the men. Maybe they are getting the worth of their money.

MILKING TIME
The Department of Agriculture is training some contented cows at a government experimental farm in Maryland and obtaining some remarkable results. There are six cows that have been regularly producing an average of better than thirty quarts a day each. An eight-quart cow would be considered good company in any community, but the government is trying to build all its flocks up to that standard. Better cows for better babies may become the slogan of the department.

SCIENTIFIC ISOLATION
Some of the Democrats are saying that we are now having that splendid isolation which a number of arsons have craved as a national policy. The tariff has been boosted high enough to keep out foreign products; the prohibition amendment has made a new barrier against the admission of the ships of other nations and our declaration to have anything to do with the League of Nations has set the rest of the world against us, anyhow. An American with a bank roll is not even welcome in Paris any more. We should worry.

HARD LINES
To what base uses may we come at last! The Angel, which was to have been the flagship of the brunette empire which was to have been established in Liberia under the auspices of the Church of the Living God, has been drafted for the fishing business. It is now said to be a part of the Japanese fleet that goes forth daily to pick up tuna and other meaty tidbits for the table. The concrete dreadnaught which was to have been the battle ship of the new empire is now a turtle pasture. The only way the apostles can make Liberia will be to build a bridge.

TRYING TO SAVE
Under the new tariff and amended revenue acts it is estimated that the Federal collections in this district will fall off at least $5,000,000 during the next fiscal year. The government is reducing taxes and expenditures to quite a substantial form, but people who have just had their tax bills from the State, county and municipal governments of California do not observe any deep-laid intention of following the national example. Looks as if it would be up to Friend Richardson, the man with the nonkid conscience, to show the way. If he can keep his promise the people will at least accord the tribute of three cheers.

COMIC OPERA STUFF
If the Sheriff drops in at the County Jail at an unexpected hour he finds the inmates playing poker, shooting craps or making home brew. Friends are sending star murderers boxes of candy with massive platens smuggled in the bottom. Madeline is making dates over the telephone or calling up her favorite bootlegger. In task No. 1 they are holding kangaroo court and sentencing the newest millionaire to the price of a couple of boxes of cigars. Now and then somebody bears a visitor; takes away his identification card and calmly walks out in his stead. Life at the jail is all delightfully informal and about as spicy as a day at Coney Island. When it flies away a bare any of the inmates they file away a bare and jump out. But always there is a new inmate coming. They say the informality is because an effort is being made to house 500 guests in a hotel built for some 200 or more.

FOLLOWING FALSE GODS

However much interested a citizen of California, with the best interests of the commonwealth at heart, may be in the progressive development of our natural resources, he is not, and cannot be, willing that the State should disregard the teachings of experience and common sense in such matters. A casual reference to North Dakota should be all that is necessary at this time to cause an ordinary man to "stop, look and listen" before voting for the $500,000,000 or any other sum under the proposed water and power amendment to the Constitution.

North Dakota was caught off her guard by a well-organized propaganda, similar to our own, that promised all things for nothing—money without labor, wheat without sowing and many other idealistic and impossible things. The people rushed to the polls and cast their ready-made ballots as instructed. Instead, however, of receiving free wheat, free money and perfect felicity from the hands of the propagandists they got bankruptcy—financial, political and moral bankruptcy.

Practical Socialism proved itself an immediate failure in that State, just as it has wherever tried, and the lesson should have driven itself home to the intelligence of even those who are proposing it to the people of California.

It is now proposed under the Water and Power Act that California shall go into the business of developing and selling water and electrical power and on a basis so huge in its proportions as to go beyond anything hitherto attempted in this or any other nation, exceeding by $150,000,000 the cost of the Panama Canal, which was a tremendous undertaking, even for the government of the United States. Indeed, the amount involved is so great that if it were to become a part of the Constitution the Legislature would be unable to provide the funds necessary for the maintenance upon an effective basis of all other State enterprises, such as building roads, supporting the educational establishments and the hundred-and-one other things that vitally affect the people.

Interest on the bonds alone will amount to $30,000,000 annually and, of course, this money must come directly out of the pockets of the taxpayers and be in addition to all other classes of taxes now paid by them, such as city, county, school district, State and local improvement. Rates are usually variable and the sums to be collected depend upon contingent demands and the balances on hand; but one thing is certain: if this amendment carries and the bonds are issued, as they would be, tax boards can and will exercise no discretion, based upon conditions, social or economic, as regards levies to be made—the $30,000,000 will have to be forthcoming, though the limits of the citizen and his property to yield money shall have been reached.

Whether the purposes for which all this money is to be used are Socialist or are to prove the practicability of public ownership of utilities, the fact is certain that the plan is too huge for a single State to attempt, though it be as rich actually and potentially as California. The whole propaganda reminds one of a reckless gambler who stakes his last dollar on the turn of a card—if he wins he will be happy; if not, he will be hopelessly broke.

But the people, the taxpayers, of this State are not gamblers; their homes and their means of living are too dear to them to be sacrificed to prove a theory or satisfy the ambitions of politicians. It is natural and usual for people to desire everything that will add to their felicity and that desires lies at the very foundation of all organized governments; but they are also wise enough to know that they cannot have all they want just when they want it.

Complete development of the water and power resources of the State will inevitably come, but according to the same process that have made our soils yield more annually than all the gold and silver we have mined. Time, patience and industry may be safely relied upon to do what dreamers and propagandists have never done, notwithstanding all the specious arguments they are making from one end of this State to the other. California's economic development up to the present time has been in the hands of men and women who thought and worked intelligently, and they know that States and cities are not built in a day or by a fiat, though it be constitutional amendment.

THE JAIL BREAK
Every time a criminal escapes from jail, every time an old offender is released on probation, every time a guilty person is turned loose for lack of evidence to convict, the public is exposed to avoidable peril and the police discouraged in the performance of a difficult and dangerous duty.

The escape of Herbert Wilson, arch bandit and convicted murderer, with two other desperadoes, from the County Jail is the most serious indictment yet against that apparently places few obstacles in the way of prisoners who desire to arm themselves and leaves the jailers without guns in cases of emergency.

Wilson was one of the shrewdest bandits operating in the United States. After his bold hold-up and looting of the postoffice substation at Third and Alameda streets, his arrest was effected by the clever headwork of the government's secret service men.

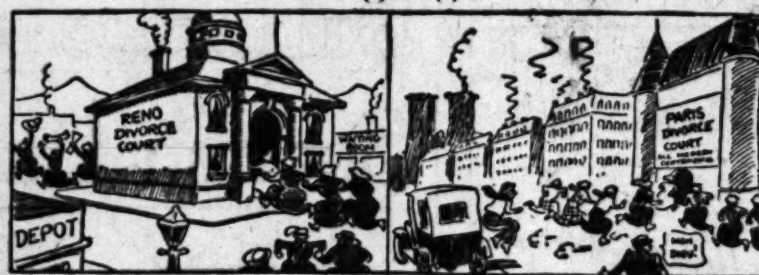

Subsequently he committed a cold-blooded murder, and the jail precincts which should have consigned him to the gallows, with such a record as this behind him, Wilson was able to secure a gun, arm a fellow murderer, while between him and liberty all that remained was a jailer compelled to tackle them with his naked fists.

Comment seems unnecessary. We spend thousands of dollars and allow the brave officers on duty to face death to bring such felons as Wilson to justice and then, either through laxity in jail regulations or by the sentimental grace of the probation law, permit them to regain their liberty and so the police on the tax of doing all over again that which they had already accomplished with skill and daring.

And then good, easy citizens, who waste sentiment on criminals and back laws for remitting their justly-earned sentences, shake their heads and deplore the present crime wave and criticize the police department.

Wilson's escape is not an isolated case nor is the probation of such demons as Phil Alagna a mere occurrence. Soft-hearted ed fools reward them with bouquets of admiration and petitions for pardon. The police pay with their lives.

Incidentally, it would seem that there is something radically wrong in the conduct of a jail where romances are permitted between Madeline Obenchain and other prisoners; where guns can be passed in; where guards permit the jail weapons to be tampered with.

Either there has been deliberate connivance between prisoners and jailers or those in charge of the jail must be equipped with pigeon brains.

Wilson and his pals have been recaptured, but that should not end the matter.

MOTHER MORTALITY
The United States is deservedly proud of having the lowest infant mortality rate of all civilized nations. Against the record, however, we must set this other, even though it dampens our enthusiasm. While we have been reducing the infant mortality rate we have, at the same time, been increasing mother mortality.

Hygiene and medical science have devised many new methods to insure children a better birthright. Every advance on old methods that lessens the risk to the babe should also lessen the risk to the mother. In extreme cases, where the life of either the infant or the mother was at stake, no doctor would hesitate as to where his duty lay.

Yet standing up before the American Child Hygiene Association at Washington, so reputable an authority as Dr. Charles J. Hastings, with the assent of other specialists present, charged "that from 10,000 to 15,000 helpless women were being needlessly murdered every year through careless handling at time of maternity."

He further said "women were being crucified year after year at the time when they should have the tenderest and most scientific care," and he called upon the nation to make a combined effort to remove "this shame of civilization."

How to remove this shame medical science is unable to specify. Evidently, there is more behind this increased mortality among mothers than just "careless handling at time of maternity."

Possibly, also, the tenderest and most scientific care, for want of which Dr. Hastings asserts women are being crucified yearly, is a form of treatment womanhood demands, not only when the children are being born, but even more in the long intervals between periods of home and married life.

And this is something, unlike hospital and medical treatment, that money cannot buy nor any government regulation rectify. By improved appliances and modern enlightenment and research medical science can render the operation of childbirth almost perfectly safe for the unconscious infant while more advanced views on health and hygiene can secure it against fatalities in the first year of its helpless existence. So the rate of infant mortality has been reduced.

But for the too-conscious mother, whose apron, while the child life was forming—or even before—has passed through a thousand conflicting influences, has lost itself in endless perplexities and bewilderments, has asked vain questions of a heaven that never answers, has suffered, perhaps, disillusionment it dare not even whisper in prayer, what can sterilized instruments, applied obstetrics or solemn enactments of a congress of men effect to mitigate the pangs of childbirth?

Seeking admittance to a woman's soul, medical science peers dimly through curtained windows or knocks with heavy knuckles at a fast-closed door.

A "TIMES" SCHOLARSHIP BOY

Perhaps you have noticed dispatches in The Times from Smyrna or Constantinople under the name of John Clayton. John is, of course, a foreign correspondent for metropolitan American newspapers, which means that he is a real newspaper man, but you may be interested in knowing how he got his start in life.

Back in 1904 The Times held one of its scholarship contests. Down in Long Beach there was an industrious lad who used to carry The Times and a local paper and work in a book store the rest of his time. The boy was John Clayton. He won a scholarship to Occidental College through this contest.

Young Clayton went to work for a Los Angeles newspaper after his graduation from college. For a number of years he was a reporter and advertising man. Then, in April, 1917, the United States entered the war. John didn't lose any time in enlisting in the aviation service.

As a flight lieutenant in France he had quite a time looking things over. When he wasn't smelling the smoke of battle or dodging "Porker" machine-gun bullets he worked on the editorial staff of Plane News, the publication of the flying corps overseas. Just as a remembrance of combat days he has a picture of a German plane he brought to earth one afternoon.

By the time of the armistice John had had nearly enough of war to last a lifetime, so he decided to try something a little more adventuresome than flying. He became managing editor of the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune.

You'll remember, of course, the terrible howl that arose from the seven hills of Rome when Woodrow Wilson made an extremely humorous remark about Flume at the Versailles conference. Everybody took it as a good joke, with the exception of an Italian poet by the name of Gabriele d'Annunzio. He got pretty hot under the collar.

The consequence was that he gathered up a few of his underlings, henchmen, set sail for Flume and captured the town one morning while the residents were still in bed.

That's where John Clayton came in, for, while things were pretty hot in that part of the world, he was told to go down to Flume and see what he could see. Reaching into a bottom drawer of his desk he pulled out a large map of Europe and searched diligently to find where the place was. He finally located it and so he journeyed to the town.

He hadn't been in Flume long enough to get well acquainted with the place when he scored a big "ace" in one of his stories. Everybody liked the story, with the exception of d'Annunzio, who was in a roar.

A brilliant writer, his exhortation of Wall Street operators and methods at one time attracted wide attention, but, in order to know just how hollow all his talk was, it was only necessary to invest in some of the stocks that Lawson was backing.

He played the game only according to Lawson. But not according to the rules in Wall Street. He is "down," but who is willing to go on record as saying that he is "out"?

THE POINT OF VIEW
A certain form of censorship of the spoken drama in Gotham theaters has been provided through an agreement in which most of the producers have joined and which has the approval of Augustus Thomas, the high commissioner of Theatopia.

Under the terms of the agreement if some sensible citizen makes written objection to any particular play or production there will be a trial by jury of twelve persons.

A jury list of several hundred names from the clergy, the welfare workers and reformers, as well as business men, literati and reviewers, has been prepared and the jury will be drawn from this number. It will take a three-fourths majority to decide. If nine of the twelve condemn the production it will at once be withdrawn or remodeled to conform to the findings of the jury. There is no general warrant or call for censorship of any kind, but an occasional situation arises when a clamor is heard. The machinery here provided would seem to be serviceable under such circumstances.

In a broad way the police authority is ample to meet any case, but where the police refuse to act the "indignant citizen" would still be able to incite action.

"I'VE BEEN THINKING"

BY THE FOOTHILL PHILOSOPHER

I've been thinking that—There is something in every man that is the Master of his thinking apparatus and that this master can paint upon the kaleidoscope canvas of the mind any kind of pictures he chooses.

Some men walk through life and accumulate only a bundle of more or less useful facts, while others wade through the wilderness of facts and gather a bouquet of the blossoms of life.

The man who has descended to that stage of self-love in which he believes the lies he tells his own soul has reached the depths of credulity.

We must sometimes read and study the things which we do not understand in order that we may have a better understanding of everything we read and study.

The man who tries to impress you with the fact that he can speak seven languages is usually incapable of saying anything original in any one of them.

Theory of Quantum Amazes Ebell Members

Former Cambridge Instructor Joins Institute

Grandson of Evolutionist is Welcomed

BY MYRA NYE

"I don't understand a word he is saying."

"Never mind, you can read all about it in The Times tomorrow."

The above conversation, which took place verbatim around the tables at the Ebell Club guest luncheon yesterday is the excuse for this story.

Dr. Charles Darwin will find no excuse for it, although he is the hero and the subject is "The Theory of Quantum."

Famous on his own account as an expert in geological research and experimentation, Dr. Darwin is the grandson of the illustrious naturalist who gave the theory of evolution to the world in the middle of the nineteenth century.

He has just come from the University of Cambridge, England, to become a member of the teaching staff of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, and yesterday made his first appearance in this city since arriving in Southern California.

The two greatest scientific advances of the twentieth century thus far, said Dr. Darwin, "are the theory of relativity as advanced by Einstein and his theory of quantum or quantum."

The latter is by far the more important and gives promise of more valuable results.

The theory of relativity, said Dr. Darwin, "is a scientific and attainable had been discovered in 1895 and this year should come from the influence of the anaesthesia he would feel deepest when told the theory of relativity, but being a rational and intelligent man he would accept it. If, however, the theory of quantum should be explained to him, he would think quite definitely that his informant was raving because of his ignorance or seemingly hopeless number of inconsistencies in its proof."

As was evidenced by the expression upon the faces of his hearers they shared the feelings of the imaginary Rip Van Winkle scientist. They could neither understand the theory nor its purpose if once completely established.

When Charles Darwin, the first advanced his evolution theory he could have created no greater bewilderment than did his grandson yesterday. However, this much could be gleaned by a female mind.

At the Pasadena institute the chief effort in the years to come, according to Dr. Robert A. Millikan, its famous director, is the leading of energy from electrons and atoms.

For instance, as one chemist said before the Ebell Club, when once this energy is available a housewife may go out in the back yard and bring in a small pallet of sand, or in other words, all the energy required for all of her housework for a whole year.

ATOM CAN GAIN

Now the theory of quantum can make, when applied correctly, an atom gain or lose energy in terms of elementary energy.

"The theory will, in effect," said Dr. Darwin, "enable an electron (which is millions of times smaller than an atom) with a clock, a machine to wind it up, a fuel, which way it is going."

In other words, the theory of quantum will enable the user of energy to measure and regulate his energy if—and here is the trouble—he understands how it works.

But Dr. Darwin warned with emphasis: "When you apply consistent conclusions in this theory you arrive at further conclusions which are not correct and when you reason from incorrect or impossible conclusions you arrive at correct conclusions."

Rather dangerous thinking that, perhaps as dangerous as the red-hot poker, which should be black when hot, according to Dr. Darwin's explanation of the theory, a plank thrown from a boat 1000 miles from another boat, according to the theory, would not create ripples that finally touched the far-off boat, but would actually leap out of the water on board the far-off boat. A fine method for leading vessels and boat owners, no doubt, will be for it. They will not be among the hundred years hence to battle the theory of quantum, like William Jennings Bryan today, who battles evolution with a sentence convincing or otherwise.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember always to include a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. I. M. W.—I am glad to know that you have lost 33 pounds in two months. That's a little bit too rapid for continuous reduction, I believe. Although I have had letters from you and your followers stating that they have reduced as rapidly as they have without any special means of discomfort at all.

But your complaint now is that though you are still on the same diet you are not reducing and you are unhappy about it. This is common. In fact, it is the usual thing that after a reduction even less food is needed for a further reduction. This is because you are not feeding and keeping up the nourishment on the fat that you have lost. You will either have to go on a low calorie, a 600 or 800 calorie diet, or you will have to cut down your daily consumption of calories.

It is only when one gets down to normal that the diet can be increased to any degree without causing a gain. One pound of excess fat seems to act as a heaven to manufacture of more fat. I don't know how else to think of it. A musketeer 4 1/2 inches in diameter is approximately 160 lbs.

Mrs. V. T.—The number of calories needed for a baby of twenty-one months depends upon the size and weight of the baby. In general, the child of two years needs approximately 1000-1200 calories a day, depending upon its activities and its size and its weight.

Reader—Thank you for the suggestion that whole wheat grain is good for constipation.

N. P.—Do you think you have developed a habit of eating by the clock? If so, you should try to eat when you are hungry and not when the clock says so.

L. R.—Your ankles probably look too thin because you are so much over-reduced. This gives you an indication of what you should do?

Yes, a milk diet is wonderful for a reducing diet or a gaining diet, either. All depending upon the number of calories you need. A glass of milk is 160 calories. To lose, take under your maintenance diet. To gain, take over.

Navy to Honor Artists

Art has frequently done honor to the Navy. But on Saturday next the Navy, or that part of it as represented by the flagship California, will do honor to the artists.

Invitations have been issued to members of the Laguna Beach Art Association, of which Miss Anna Hills is president, for a buffet luncheon on board, followed by an entertainment. Admiral Eberle and his staff will receive the guests on board the California, among whom will be included such artists as William Wendt, Hans Pott, J. Clark, Coleman, William Swift, Daniel, Jack Smith, A. A. Hills, Thomas Sells and many others who have made the picturesque little beach resort famous as an art colony.

The ceremony will be held on Saturday, October 22, at 10:30 a.m. The guests will be received by Admiral Eberle and his staff on board the California, among whom will be included such artists as William Wendt, Hans Pott, J. Pastor of Baptist Temple Denies Rumors

With the interjection yesterday in Judge Shank's court of the names of Rev. J. Whitcomb Broucher, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, and Rev. Bob Shuler of Trinity Methodist Church, into the case of Arthur C. Burch, accused of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, it was intimated by Dep. Dist. Atty. Clark that a defense fund is being raised in local churches for Burch.

Mr. Burch also was asked if he had received any money for his fee from Bishop Quayle, father-in-law of Burch, to which he replied that he had not.

The interjection of the names of the two local clergymen into the case came when Mr. Clark asked W. H. Roddicker, a salesman, if he had been contributed to a fund for the defense of Burch, or if he belonged to any organization, church, fraternal or otherwise, which was raising such a fund. Mr. Schenck objected to the question.

CALLS AS WITNESS

"You know to what I refer," stated Mr. Clark.

"You may call me as a witness, if you wish," replied Mr. Schenck.

"All right," came the reply.

"Take the stand."

Mr. Schenck did so, and was asked if he had received any money from Bishop Quayle, to which he replied he had not. Then he was asked if he knew Rev. Bob Shuler.

"I do not recall meeting him, but I saw in the paper the other day where he was quoted as saying that he had received a fee from Burch."

"Is it not a fact that Dr. Broucher is interested in raising a fund for the defense in this case?"

"I only met Dr. Broucher once, but I saw where he also was named Mr. Woolwine. I never received any money as my fee from him, nor anyone else, except Dr. Burch, father of the defendant, and I have all of my fee, except some which is secured by securities."

Mr. Schenck denied any knowledge of a fund being raised in local churches for the defense of Burch, or whether Dr. Broucher asked members of his church to contribute to such a fund.

Fifteen talesmen were called, three of them being excused and five passed for cause.

CHARGE DENIED

"I have not interested myself in the defense of Arthur Burch nor in that of Madalynne Obenchain," emphatically stated Dr. Broucher last night, when he was informed of passages between State and defense attorneys yesterday during Burch's third trial.

"I have not contributed a penny to the defense of Burch, and I have not assisted in raising a fund to be used for that purpose," continued Dr. Broucher. "I cannot understand why the District Attorney should mention my name in connection with the affair."

Rev. "Bob" Shuler, stated to have assisted Dr. Broucher, was not in the city last night. It was stated at the Trinity Methodist Church, and is not expected back before next week.

Last spring, after the first trial of Madalynne Obenchain, co-defendant with Arthur Burch, both of whom have been tried for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, the name of Dr. Broucher was used by Dep. Dist. Atty. Woolwine, but no charge was formally made.

DEFENDANT OBERFEL

Burch was taken out of solitary confinement yesterday in the County Jail to attend his third trial in Judge Reeve's court on a charge of slaying Kennedy in Beverly Glen on August 8, 1921.

Burch appeared as smiling as ever and did not seem worried over his trial or the fact that he was ordered placed in solitary confinement in the County Jail to smuggle a loaded revolver into the County Jail in a candy box.

Burch is accused of having come here from Chicago in order to aid Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, who is jointly accused of the murder of Kennedy. In his first trial Burch was discharged after long deliberation, and stood 10 to 3 for the State. In the second trial Burch, which was also discharged, stood 7 to 5 for acquittal.

CROWDS AT TRIAL

Although no comment would be made at the District Attorney's office, it was understood in the case of the jury in this trial failed to agree, that the charge against Mrs. Obenchain, who has also been twice tried, would be dismissed, as well as the charge against Burch.

The courtroom was crowded yesterday, in spite of the fact that the case only reached the preliminary stage of examining witnesses as to their stories as jurors. It was thought by defense and prosecution counsel that about two weeks would be required in the selection of the jury.

"ROBIN HOOD" WINS TRIUMPH

picture for paragraph after paragraph. But all my describing will do little or naught to give you the reality of the original. It is something that must be seen for there is absolutely no parallel for the artistry of it in cinema history.

By comparison, I have some fault to find with the Sherwood forest setting. I think that more of its concealing bigness could have been suggested. You lose sight of this perhaps in the life and color of the action, however, and besides, the various location is not the stage for the throbbing drama of the picture.

The story starts with a slow invocation of the atmosphere of the Middle Ages. First there are dim flashes of ruined castles on the heights, where clouds and sunlight hover. Mayhap the painter's brush has been used to conjure these visions. It matters not. They serve to carry the mind across the centuries.

By degrees we reach the fabled earth before a solid feudal wall. A drawbridge slowly descends, and out march squires and knights and princes. Soon we behold a massed army of heraldry. Competition holds away. It is the day of the tournament. Lances snap and swords break on shields in the sharp encounter of the joust.

Throughout this entire early sequence, I feel, Fairbanks has succeeded in establishing himself as an entirely new personality. He has seemingly hidden all his typical eccentricities behind the chain mail of the Middle Ages. He is, of course, for a somewhat more effective entrance than he makes. That was too much like the traditional Doug, but beyond that there is little to deserve fault-finding.

More liberties, of course, he takes with the character once he has made the transition to Robin Hood. There are flashes of the penny thrills that might well have been omitted, but there are few really important lapses from the spirit of the drama.

DARTAGNAN OUTDOES

Fairbanks's character painting is much more adroit and artistic than in "The Three Musketeers," and in his personal performance there is no comparison between the two. This is so far ahead of his d'Artagnan that with more such portraiture, I believe that he will be entirely free of the obvious Doug-lama, and have finally fixed himself as a real interpreter.

The climax of the picture is in the Fairbanks style. There is a hurricane of action and a small gust of amusing gags in its wake. Everything, however, is full of spirit. Marring notes only are the slight overdrawings of the suspense and some trick thrill stuff.

The actual ending is a piquant bit that would be detestable to censor, even though it goes several flights beyond the conventional romantic fade-out. It is one of the best touches of all for the sophisticated, because it shows that even a King has no business clothing a knight when he is in the bridal chamber with his bride. Despite its content, this whole episode is handled with the most delicate poetry.

Absolutely unalloyed, perhaps, "Robin Hood" is not. But in the life color, action and beauty, which it brings to the screen it has a significance which can hardly at the moment be measured. As some one remarked, "It seems just like the kind of picture that we have heard about, and that at last is here." Surely we want more "Robin Hood's" if they are going to mean—many more of them.

BEERY EXCELLENCE

While I give the utmost credit to Fairbanks for his interpretation of the hero, because I believe it marks such a great advancement over his previous work, I do feel that the portrayal that is going to make a rare popular success is that of Wallace Beery as Richard the Lion-Hearted. What an imposing physique and what splendid acting ability Beery displays! He has added to his scope as a film player immeasurably. Casting had much to do with this success, no doubt, but he seems to be equal to all the requirements beside.

There are a few false notes in the principal interpretations. Opinions may differ as to whether Euld Bennett is the ideal Maid Marian, but certainly she is an idealistic one. She is utterly charming in the love scenes, and a perfect Anglo-Saxon type. Her interpretation is filled with beauty. As victoriously sinister a villain as has been seen in many a day is the John of San De Grasse. Paul Dickey is another that is capital as Sir Guy of Gisbourne, while Alan Hale as Littlejohn is a truly chivalric success. Here again physique wins half the battle.

Round gawky and mirth of an entirely new order were afforded by William Louis as Friar Tuck. Roy Coulson blended a bright and pathetic note in the role of the Jester, Maine Geary, William Lowery and others are in the picture.

The dynamic personality of Alan Dwan is reflected in the direction of the picture, particularly in the handling of the massive forces. Too, one may doubt and traces of his leaning to the sturdier type of romance, the avoidance of cheap melodrama, his treatment of the love scenes. It is evident throughout that he co-ordinated the various elements in the picture with certainty, although one must naturally attribute many of the salient points in direction to the supervision of Fairbanks himself.

The presentation was given with a musical accompaniment by Victor Shertzinger. Herein the themes are well defined and vigorous in every respect. The score maintains simplicity, and while certain themes may be reiterated a trifle too frequently, the musical patterning is as a whole good. Mr. Shertzinger himself directed for the showing.

A National "OPEN HOUSE"

October 23 to 28

to which you are invited

An "open house" in your honor, with the laundry specialists who have relieved so many of the city's homes of wash-day toil and worry as hosts, will be conducted October 23 to 28, in this and 7,500 other modern laundries of the United States.

"Open House" in a laundry! Unusual, to be sure—yet natural enough when its purpose is understood.

Your laundry renders an intimate personal sort of service. To it, more than to almost any other institution, is entrusted the conservation and protection of the family health.

You should know how well this duty is performed. You should see a modern laundry in operation—and to make this easy is the purpose of Visitors' Week.

During six days, October 23 to 28, special preparations will be made here and in modern laundries everywhere for your reception.

You will see how clothes are cleansed and conserved, and a degree of cleanliness and sanitation achieved that is comparable with that in your own home—

You will see methods for the expeditious, thorough and safe washing of clothes which will give you a new conception of this great industry—and a new faith in its competency—

You will meet the men and women who, through their ideals of conscientious service, have lifted the laundry industry in America to a level attained nowhere else in the world—

You will learn why it is no longer necessary for the family washing to be kept at home, and why wash-day already has disappeared from the calendars of more than 2,000,000 American women.

Visit us during Visitors' Week, so that you may know the modern laundry as it really is.

Remember the dates—October 23 to 28.

—And come—a cordial welcome—an interesting experience—await you.

In the beginning—

IN the beginning every man hunted his own food and fashioned his own crude clothes and dwelling. Then one man, a better hunter than his neighbors, exchanged his surplus food for a home built by a more skilled craftsman. Trade was born.

Today no civilized man, city or nation exists independently. Specialized labor and product are exchanged for the satisfaction of a thousand varied wants.

Hellman Bank, through its branches in Southern California, is extending to the cities so served banking advantages which they could not possibly enjoy dependent upon themselves alone. The farmers and producers of these cities, fortified and equipped by the vast resources of capital which this Bank places at their disposal, send their products into the market places of the world. To them comes greater prosperity and to their State and nation an increasing common wealth.

picture for paragraph after paragraph. But all my describing will do little or naught to give you the reality of the original. It is something that must be seen for there is absolutely no parallel for the artistry of it in cinema history.

By comparison, I have some fault to find with the Sherwood forest setting. I think that more of its concealing bigness could have been suggested. You lose sight of this perhaps in the life and color of the action, however, and besides, the various location is not the stage for the throbbing drama of the picture.

The story starts with a slow invocation of the atmosphere of the Middle Ages. First there are dim flashes of ruined castles on the heights, where clouds and sunlight hover. Mayhap the painter's brush has been used to conjure these visions. It matters not. They serve to carry the mind across the centuries.

By degrees we reach the fabled earth before a solid feudal wall. A drawbridge slowly descends, and out march squires and knights and princes. Soon we behold a massed army of heraldry. Competition holds away. It is the day of the tournament. Lances snap and swords break on shields in the sharp encounter of the joust.

Throughout this entire early sequence, I feel, Fairbanks has succeeded in establishing himself as an entirely new personality. He has seemingly hidden all his typical eccentricities behind the chain mail of the Middle Ages. He is, of course, for a somewhat more effective entrance than he makes. That was too much like the traditional Doug, but beyond that there is little to deserve fault-finding.

More liberties, of course, he takes with the character once he has made the transition to Robin Hood. There are flashes of the penny thrills that might well have been omitted, but there are few really important lapses from the spirit of the drama.

DARTAGNAN OUTDOES

Fairbanks's character painting is much more adroit and artistic than in "The Three Musketeers," and in his personal performance there is no comparison between the two. This is so far ahead of his d'Artagnan that with more such portraiture, I believe that he will be entirely free of the obvious Doug-lama, and have finally fixed himself as a real interpreter.

The climax of the picture is in the Fairbanks style. There is a hurricane of action and a small gust of amusing gags in its wake. Everything, however, is full of spirit. Marring notes only are the slight overdrawings of the suspense and some trick thrill stuff.

The actual ending is a piquant bit that would be detestable to censor, even though it goes several flights beyond the conventional romantic fade-out. It is one of the best touches of all for the sophisticated, because it shows that even a King has no business clothing a knight when he is in the bridal chamber with his bride. Despite its content, this whole episode is handled with the most delicate poetry.

Absolutely unalloyed, perhaps, "Robin Hood" is not. But in the life color, action and beauty, which it brings to the screen it has a significance which can hardly at the moment be measured. As some one remarked, "It seems just like the kind of picture that we have heard about, and that at last is here." Surely we want more "Robin Hood's" if they are going to mean—many more of them.

BEERY EXCELLENCE

While I give the utmost credit to Fairbanks for his interpretation of the hero, because I believe it marks such a great advancement over his previous work, I do feel that the portrayal that is going to make a rare popular success is that of Wallace Beery as Richard the Lion-Hearted. What an imposing physique and what splendid acting ability Beery displays! He has added to his scope as a film player immeasurably. Casting had much to do with this success, no doubt, but he seems to be equal to all the requirements beside.

There are a few false notes in the principal interpretations. Opinions may differ as to whether Euld Bennett is the ideal Maid Marian, but certainly she is an idealistic one. She is utterly charming in the love scenes, and a perfect Anglo-Saxon type. Her interpretation is filled with beauty. As victoriously sinister a villain as has been seen in many a day is the John of San De Grasse. Paul Dickey is another that is capital as Sir Guy of Gisbourne, while Alan Hale as Littlejohn is a truly chivalric success. Here again physique wins half the battle.

Round gawky and mirth of an entirely new order were afforded by William Louis as Friar Tuck. Roy Coulson blended a bright and pathetic note in the role of the Jester, Maine Geary, William Lowery and others are in the picture.

The dynamic personality of Alan Dwan is reflected in the direction of the picture, particularly in the handling of the massive forces. Too, one may doubt and traces of his leaning to the sturdier type of romance, the avoidance of cheap melodrama, his treatment of the love scenes. It is evident throughout that he co-ordinated the various elements in the picture with certainty, although one must naturally attribute many of the salient points in direction to the supervision of Fairbanks himself.

The presentation was given with a musical accompaniment by Victor Shertzinger. Herein the themes are well defined and vigorous in every respect. The score maintains simplicity, and while certain themes may be reiterated a trifle too frequently, the musical patterning is as a whole good. Mr. Shertzinger himself directed for the showing.

(SANTA ANA, Oct. 18.—) Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning for James P. Brown, 44 years of age, who died yesterday afternoon after a brief illness. He was a pioneer of this city and chief of the first fire department. For several years he was engineer of the city waterworks. In recent years he has been engineer at a local ice plant. He leaves a widow and one son, Ernest Brown, a member of the fire department here.

BUILD COUNTY SCHOOL
Erection of a county-owned parental school on Santa Flower street, north of Santiago creek, was assured today when legal steps were taken by the supervisors toward purchase of a site. An eighteen-acre tract has been chosen and will be purchased at a price of $45,000.

OFFICE SUNDAY DANCING
Sunday afternoon dancing in the pavilion at Orange County Park will be banned, if the Board of Supervisors adopts a resolution being drafted today by a committee from the brotherhood of the Supton Memorial Methodist Church.

This so-called decoration of the Sabbath was discussed at a meeting of the organization last night, and several voiced opposition to the custom which, they say, would eventually cause many to overlook Sabbath observance entirely.

The pavilion is publicly owned, but the supervisors, it is understood, have not been responsible in any way for the music that is provided there Sundays. A committee was authorized to draft resolutions to be presented to the supervisors next Tuesday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A five-word remark, the whispered repetition of which to Magistrate Everett in night court caused Miss Gladys Edwards to blush furiously, cost Morris Leavitt, 19 years old, a $5 fine today, or $1 a week.

Miss Edwards, who writes for a magazine, was in Central Park with Richard Evans, who is a newspaper man. Tuesday night, when Leavitt and Emory Raab, an Army private, came to Governor's Island, came by Leavitt smiled as the wind lifted Miss Edwards' skirt, and more than once he winked at her. When Leavitt was asked what he said that caused the trouble, he declared that he merely remarked:

"Look at that leg."

But Miss Edwards whispered to the Magistrate that the five words he heard Leavitt say and the fine followed. Raab was discharged.

REPUBLICANISM MADE PROMISES COME TRUE

(SANTA ANA, Oct. 18.—) Senator McCormick today said that the first session of the last Democratic Congress of 1929 was approximately $4,554,000,000, while at the first regular session of the present Republican Congress the appropriation was $3,745,000,000.

This tremendous decrease in Federal expenditures did not happen by chance, the Senator added. It was brought about in fulfillment of promise by the Republican majority and the Republican President to make an end to the waste which marked the conduct of the Wilson administration but not only by the signing of the armistice.

"The Republicans have passed the Emergency Tariff Act and the Agriculture Credit Act," he said. "They have brought industrial peace, and now, thank God, prosperity is at hand."

Senator Cole
Oldest Witness
Ever Recorded

When former U. S. Senator Cornelius Cole, 100 years of age, was called to the stand in Judge York's court yesterday in a suit to recover damages from the city of Los Angeles for damaging his land at Colegrove by storm waters, it was not necessary to record his age. The court and the lawyers knew it. In point of years, Cole was the oldest witness ever to be summoned in the Superior Courts. He celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary September 17.

He testified with the vim of a younger man. Seward Cole, his son, was one of his counsel. Mr. Cole testified that the three acres swept by the storm water were a part of the 460 acres he bought in 1868. He said that the selling value of the lots was depreciated by the damage caused by storm water.

The city declares to the contrary, and an interesting legal battle is being fought.

Refusals

Declaring that his name had been included in Thomas Lee Woolwine's campaign committee list after he had refused to grant permission for its use, Wood Wilson, chairman of the East Side Republican Club, yesterday denied that he was supporting Woolwine's candidacy.

Similar denials were also made by Ella L. Caswell, secretary of the East Side organization, and H. Austin, both of whom were included on the Woolwine list after permission to use their names had been denied, they said.

Mr. Wilson said that several requests had been made of him by Woolwine workers to permit his name to be used on campaign literature, but that they had been repeatedly refused.

"I recently received the publication of my name among the Woolwine supporters," said Mr. Wilson, "and I know that both Mr. Caswell and Mr. Austin are of the same mind. We will continue to work for the election of the whole ticket of Republican nominees."

WEALTHY ST. LOUIS WANTS COURT TO DECIDE IF HE IS CHILD'S FATHER

(ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—) Herman Henry Laumier, wealthy clubman and real estate dealer, this afternoon asked the Circuit Court to determine the paternity of the son of his former wife, Mrs. Byrd Sheehy, who is suing him in New York for the support of the child. He declares he separated from her in 1918, and that the child was not born until twenty-three months later.

Mr. Laumier, who was secretary of the St. Louis club of the Federal Reserve Bank, asks that a guardian of the child be appointed, and if it is found that he is not the father, he requests that his former wife's "conduct and character" be determined by the court. He also asks that his former wife be granted the custody and care of the child.

Mr. Laumier is 47 years old and his former wife is said to be more than 20 years his junior. They were married at Salem, Ill., July 19, 1918, and in June of 1920, the year the wife sued for divorce, she was granted the custody and care of the child.

Mr. Laumier's former wife is said to have received several sums of $10,000 each which he expected would release him from further alimony payments. According to the petition, Laumier testified at the divorce trial that he married his former wife while he was intoxicated, following an all-night spree on Jan. 8, 1918.

In an opinion delivered by Collector Goodsell yesterday, a naturalized American, who returned to his foreign home after a naturalized divorce in the United States, was held to be taxable in the United States occasionally for visits only, not for his American citizenship and his income derived from sources in the foreign country is exempt from Federal tax.

In the case of a California woman, who lost her citizenship by marrying a foreigner whom she subsequently divorced in the United States, it is held that the woman in question resumed her American citizenship when she returned to the marital relations, and that it was unnecessary for her to take any steps toward repatriation.

for Los Angeles

"People of Los Angeles are genuinely optimistic and for that reason Los Angeles is prosperous." This was the declaration made last night by Matthew C. Brush of New York, senior vice-president of the American International Corporation, which has business interests in all parts of the world, and a director of more than a dozen other trading companies. Mr. Brush arrived here yesterday after an inspection tour of the Pacific Coast.

"I am tremendously impressed with the general business situation in this city and I sincerely believe that Los Angeles has a great future," he said. "The Pacific Coast is the real trading center for the Orient, and because California is the center of production for the West, I believe that the outlook for this section is extremely bright."

Mr. Brush arrived here yesterday noon in his private car, Sunset, with his mother, Mrs. L. D. Brush, and his sister, Mrs. M. L. Brush, from San Francisco after a brief visit there through the cities of Salt Lake, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, New Orleans and thence to New York City, his home.

"My principal object in touring the West was to inspect the Milwaukee Railroad, particularly in regard to its electrification," he said. "I have found its electrification equipment the most complete of any in the world."

Besides being senior vice-president of the American International Corporation, Mr. Brush is president and director of the American International Shipbuilding Corporation, chairman and director of the Allied Machinery Company of America, and president and director of the G. A. Mearns & Co. Inc., and of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

Another Large Hotel Promised
for Hollywood

Hollywood is to have another spacious hotel, it was announced yesterday by Gordon L. Freeman, 230 Chapman Building. He is associated with George M. Hull, former owner of the site of the structure at the corner of Cherokee avenue and Hollywood Boulevard. Tentative plans for the hotel, which is to cost in the neighborhood of $600,000, are being prepared by J. A. Larraide, architect.

The hotel, which will be a nine-story, with 250 guest rooms, each with adjoining private bath, an elaborate lobby, sumptuous dining room, two electric elevators and the latest equipment. The architect will be of Spanish style, with a modern floor plan and modern shops. The selected property fronts ninety feet on Hollywood Boulevard and has a depth of 105 feet on Cherokee avenue.

ELECTION OF WORLD LABOR BODY PLANNED

(GENEVA, Oct. 18.—) The draft of the amended Article XXXIII of the peace treaty was presented at the session of the fourth international labor conference here today. It provides that the international labor office shall be composed of twenty-four members, of whom sixteen shall be designated by the governments, eight the employers and eight the workers.

Of the sixteen government members, six shall be designated by each of the governments of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Germany. The ten other members representing the governments will be elected by a majority of all the governments present at the conference; four of these ten will be from non-European states.

The employers' and employees' delegates will be designated by the vote of their respective representatives.

(NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—) Embedded in stale candy in which the gelatine had coagulated and which was sold to pupils of a public school in Jersey City, bits of excruciating splinters of wood and even pins were discovered by officials of the health department today. They confiscated the entire stock of a certain kind of candy sold in the store of William Lewis.

The investigation was made following the illness of six students.

Dr. Hagen, health commissioner, is directing an inquiry into the origin of the confection.

TWO DIE IN CANAL

Mother Sought to Drown Self and Children

(ONTARIO, Ont., Oct. 18.—) Two children of John Driskoll, a rancher living three miles east of here, are dead, and Mrs. Driskoll, their mother, is in a serious condition today after having been taken from an irrigation canal last night.

A note which Driskoll found on his return to the house late yesterday said the mother planned to jump into the canal with the two children. Search resulted in finding the bodies of the children, one aged two years and the other four weeks. Mrs. Driskoll was found in an unconscious condition, and was resuscitated by a physician.

The note left by the woman enlivened the husband and said the mother was happy. The association of the mother's plan to have been temporarily deranged as a result of worry over the destruction of her home by a storm recently. There are two other children, four and six years.

(SEATTLE, Oct. 18.—) Police and fire departments will stage a big parade through the city streets the 31st inst. to stimulate public interest in the police and firemen's pension amendment to the city charter of Los Angeles. The police and firemen's bands from Los Angeles will participate in the parade. Ernest Rhodes, captain of the Los Angeles department, will be one of the speakers. Fire Chief Scott and Chief of Police Oaks are also scheduled to be present.

AMERICAN GOGGLES

NEW FRENCH STYLE

(PARIS, Oct. 18.—) American goggles, the horrid spectacles which always were ridiculed by the French—now have become the style for many chic Frenchmen though it is unlikely they will extend to women as being too masculine. Le Jour says: "Heretofore goggles in Europe always were distinguished by well-made shoes and disfiguring black goggles but now they will have to depend on their own merits to determine their nationality."

TEXAS CANDIDATE WILL FACE JURY

(CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Oct. 18.—) The suit to make permanent the temporary injunction preventing Marie E. Mayfield from being placed on the ballot as Democratic Senatorial candidate will be tried today by a jury. The suit was brought by the Texas State Bar Association.

He over-ruled a motion by David B. Grammer, attorney for Mayfield, to postpone further hearing until the Civil Appeal Court at Dallas has acted on the appeal now pending.

Jury Takes Little Time to Convict Wife Accused of Murdering Husband for Money

(TOMES RIVER, N. J., Oct. 18.—) Mrs. Ivy Giberson of Lakewood tonight was found guilty of the charge of murdering her husband, William F. Giberson, aged 38, garage owner, in his sleep on August 14, last. She was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor.

The jury brought in a verdict of first-degree murder at 7:40 p.m. after four and one-half hours deliberation.

TWO BALLOTS TAKEN

Only two ballots were taken. A unanimous vote for conviction was cast on the first ballot, but one juror voted to send her to the electric chair instead of the life imprisonment.

Mrs. Giberson's "nerves of steel" and her calmness in the face of the verdict without a tremor, her face expressionless, facing Judge Kallisch in the highest courtroom as he sentenced her, she stood as erect as a defeated general, and appeared as stoical.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Kallisch said: "If she had nothing to make you feel more the punishment that is to be inflicted upon you is that you are to be confined in prison for the time of your natural life at hard labor."

A small crowd remained to hear the verdict. Public sentiment favored the conviction, and those who were taken to the trial were convinced the jury would convict. J. B. Richmond, son of the de-

PRAYS FOR RETURN OF
CHILDREN*Old Spanish Woman's Heart Breaking for Sight of Three Sons

Kneeling night and morning before a crucifix and an image of the Blessed Virgin, an old Spanish woman, who lives in a little adobe hut in the foothills near San Gabriel, prays, and has prayed for many months, for the return home of the children whose prolonged absence is breaking her heart.

The woman's name is Mrs. T. Rosa, and she lives in the foothills near San Gabriel. She was born in Los Angeles sixty years ago. One of the beliefs of her people, she married early in life, but death soon took her mate. Again she married, and again she lost her mate. The third marriage was to a Mr. Rosa, and she lived with him in the bright land across the river, but from this last union were born three children, Edward, Miguel and Oscar. She loved these children and worked for them like a slave, until they were all grown up.

"And now, they are gone," said Mrs. Rosa yesterday. "No, they are not gone—but they all disappeared eighteen months ago and I have heard nothing from them since. I am sure they are all dead, and I have heard nothing from them since. I am sure they are all dead, and I have heard nothing from them since."

Mrs. Rosa is 60 years old and worked for them like a slave, until they were all grown up. She loved these children and worked for them like a slave, until they were all grown up.

"I don't know why they went away. I have no idea where they are. If they are sick or in trouble, I wish they'd come back. I am sure they are all dead, and I have heard nothing from them since."

In their report the engineers state, "We believe the management of the association is capable and worthy of the full confidence of the members and that if the recommendations in this report are carried out the association can look forward to more economical operation, greater returns to the growers, increased harmony among the members and a more solid organization."

Recommendations refer entirely to office and packing-house routine and not to general sales or business policies.

The association represents 80 per cent of the prune acreage and 10 per cent of the apricot acreage of the state.

MAZDA LAMPS—MAZDA—not the name of a thing, but the mark of a service. It appears only on lamps which meet the exacting requirements of Mazda service. The Pacific States Electric Company distributes the Mazda lamp, supplying types for every purpose; it is one of the most important items of our complete line of electrical products.

Others are in possession of something with which they are not being acquainted which is being jealously guarded by it. All announce the crime it contains the fact.

Others twenty-four hours before the fact is known to the promoters through the fact they claim to have been in contact with the couple who are in want of it, more than the other side, more than the other side was found, the other side ridiculing the other side.
